New ministers reflect growing community

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Community Editor

A growing community usually brings with it growing pains. Sometimes that growth can affect the community in positive ways.

This is the case for Antioch Evangelical Free Church, located at 750 Highview Drive.

Two new staff members have joined the church to help serve a congregation which has doubled from 300 to 600 members in recent years.

The two have contrasting personal backgrounds: Bob Brown, a 31-year-old bachelor originally from Michigan, is the new youth minister, with Steven L. Yates, a 46-year-old father of seven, from Antioch, is the new music minister.

"Basically, it's the kind of ministry I wanted to go into," explained Brown, a May 1998 graduate of Trinity College in Deerfield. "I wanted to see a lot of drama involved in the ministry. When I visited here, I observed a powerful worship service with the kids."

"I was very impressed with Dave (Groleau), who is a praying pastor," Brown explained. "Every time we would talk on the phone, we'd finish with a prayer."

Another aspect Brown was impressed with is the focus of the church on its youth program. The Youth Ministry has its own building.

"That made my decision to move and even more affirmed it since I've been here," Brown said. "After living in Plainfield and Deerfield while attending college, I never thought I'd come back to Illinois, especially to the Chicago area."

"I was not thrilled with the idea of Illinois, especially the Chicago area," admitted Brown, who grew up in Grand Rapids, Mich., returning there following graduation until his move to Antioch. "Since I've gotten here, it's a great church and a great community."

Brown worked with Chain O' Lakes Community Bible Church Pastor Doug Peterson while in Michigan, giving him a local contact in the Antioch area prior to moving.

For Yates, the decision to go into the ministry was somewhat different.

"I found out through the Internet," Yates said, noting he saw the position opening listed on a "music minister want ad section."

Coming from a secular music background, owning his own Steve Yates Recording Studio in Morton Grove for the past 21 years, the move to the spiritual side has been gradual.

"I was slowly moving over to the

Dutch Elm Disease spares Antioch so far

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Community Editor

The current threat of Dutch Elm Disease which devastated downtown Antioch 30 years ago has not appeared as yet.

That is the good news from Joe Huber, Antioch Village Streets Department supervisor.

"We haven't seen any cases within the village yet," explained Huber. "We have seen a lot of stress brought about by the dry summer."

"People who have elms keep a close eye on them and generally let us know if they spot any cocoon-type nesting," Huber admits. "I believe this is just a cycle. I don't know if there's any way to keep the disease from coming short of being out there every day spraying every tree.

"We went through the Dutch Elm Disease hitting the village and wiping out the trees which used to line the downtown Main Street," Huber recalled. "The trees used to cover the road like a canopy. When it went through, it killed them all."

Subdivision plans get OK from village

By JOE VAN ZANDT
Correspondent

Plans for three developments of single-family housing advanced at the latest meeting of the Antioch Village Board.

The board approved the final plat plan for the 19-lot Depot Landing subdivision and the 31-lot Landmark Point subdivision. The board was provided by Robert Silhan, the village's director of planning, zoning and building, with a favorable status report on plans for units two and three of the Windmill Creek subdivision, a project that will add 220 homes to the village.

Antioch Board votes against change in laundromat rules

By JOE VAN ZANDT
Correspondent

In a 4-3 vote, the Antioch Village Board decided last week not to change a local ordinance requiring operators of laundromats to have an attendant on duty during regular business hours.

Mayor Marilyn Shineflug and trustees Marvin Oldenburger, Lawrence Hanson and Ronald Cunningham voted in favor of the measure, while trustees Dorothy Larson, Wayne Foresta and Barbara Porch voted against it. Prior to the vote, Larson and Foresta explained their decision was based on concerns for the safety of laundromat customers.

Although she voted in favor of changing the ordinance, Porch said owners of a laundromat in McHenry conceded that their laundromat, which is open 24 hours a day and has no attendant, have experienced a variety of problems. They said vandals have damaged surveillance cameras and broken into coin boxes, while homeless people sometimes slept in the washroom and some patrons got into fights.

Despite the problems, the owners told Porch they continue to operate their business without benefit of attendants because it is more profitable to do so.

Brothers Tim and Ed Serritella of McHenry, who had previously asked the village board to drop the requirement for attendants at laundromats, said after the meeting that the board's decision stunned them.

The Serritellas operate laundromats without attendants in Cary, Dundee and Elgin and previously operated a laundromat in McHenry. They said they have never experienced the kinds of problems cited for the McHenry laundromat at any of their facilities.

"We pick locations in nice communities so we don't have problems," Serritella said.

"We were interested in buying the West Side Laundromat on Highway 59," he said. "Now, we will not take it. We never anticipated this to be such an issue."

Arson ruled out in Harbour Lights fire

The cause of a devastating fire at Harbour Lights Club on Bluff Lake in unincorporated Antioch Township remains undetermined.

Antioch Fire Department officials are awaiting insurance investigator reports to narrow in on a probable cause.

Lt. Chris Lienhardt said arson has basically been ruled out. "It has been determined no one had an ax to grind with the owners," Leinhardt said.

The Sept. 3 early morning fire completely destroyed the interior of the two-story structure which housed the restaurant/lounge and offices. An estimated $300,000 damage was reported.

Personnel from 14 departments responded to the mutual aid box alarm. —By Michael H. Babicz.

Woman's Club quilt displayed at banks

The Woodland quilt being raffled by the GFWC of Illinois Antioch Woman's Club is on display Monday through Saturday, Sept. 20-25, at State Bank of the Lakes in Antioch.

First National Bank of Antioch will display the quilt Monday through Saturday, Oct. 4-9. Both banks are located on Lake Street in Antioch.

The quilt, designed by Robin Lindblad of Quilters Dream, was stiched by members of the woman's club.

Raffle tickets for the quilt will be available at the bank information desks at $5 each or three for $10.

Proceeds benefit the completion of the William E. Brook Wildlife Sanctuary and Entertainment Center located at Depot Street and Skidmore Drive. The facility is expected to be completed sometime in 2000.- By Michael H. Babicz.

VILLAGE: Subdivisions ok'd

The 10-acre Depot Landing development is situated on the north side of Depot Street east of Longview Drive on the northeast side of the village.

Landmark Pointe, a 26-acre development, is located east of Highway 59 and south of Highway 173 on the south side of the village.

Windmill Creek, a 100-acre complex, is situated adjacent to the east and north sides of the Depot Landing site.

TREES: No problems with Dutch Elm so far in Antioch which has been showing up within Chicago and isolated cases in the suburbs, Huber says Antioch has not experienced any problems with that as yet.

"I hope I don't see it," Huber added, noting one woman called in concerned her tree might have been infected. Upon investigation, it was found to be a regular cockroach type nest.

Person with concerns regarding their trees are asked to contact Huber at the street department 395-1881 generally between 7 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Peterson named senior pastor at Chain of Lakes

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Community Editor

Rev. Douglas G. Peterson of Ingleside has been named senior pastor at Chain of Lakes Community Bible Church in Antioch.

Peterson comes to Antioch from Grand Rapids, Mich. where he served the past six years with the single adult ministry at Calvary Church.

Moving into religous life, the father of four and grandfather of one, worked in a supervisory position for a buffet restaurant chain for 22 years, leaving that position in 1992 to work full time in the Christian ministry.

A graduate of Liberty University in Lynchburg, Va. and Grand Rapids Baptist Seminary, Peterson and his wife, Mary, along with two children still at home came to the Antioch based church on Grass Lake Road in May.

Three goals, "to love God, read the Bible and love people," are the focus of Peterson's work with his new position.

The church is located at 23201 W. Grass Lake Road, just east of Route 83, in Antioch.

Arts and Crafts Faire weathers weekend with success

The Millennium ending Arts & Crafts Faire sponsored by the Antioch Chamber of Commerce in downtown weathered the changing conditions over the weekend with success.

"It went great," said Mo Ferguson of the Chamber, who served as coordinator of the weekend. "It did get cut short due to the weather on Sunday."

The rain did not hamper things on the second day, but the increased winds did forcing vendors to tear down about 1 p.m.

Over 75 vendors participated, about the same number as past years, according to Ferguson.

"We had a real good turnout Saturday and the vendors were really pleased," said Ferguson. "The weather was beautiful. Even on Sunday in the morning, the turnout was pretty good considering it is usually a slower day."

Plans are already underway for the Arts & Crafts Faires of the new millennium. The dates are staying with the traditional weekends, Father's Day in June, 17th and 18th, and the weekend after Labor Day in September, 9th-10th.

OUR TOWN

Congratulations to the Chamber staff and Mo for another job well done.

The Antioch Junior Woman's Club is holding a evening membership tea 7-9 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 21 at Lakes Regional Historical Society, 817 N. Main Street in Antioch.

Purpose of the tea is to provide interested women an opportunity to learn more about the organization and how it benefits local community services.

Homemade refreshments will be served by current club members, who will be available for fellowship and to answer questions.

For information, of if unable to attend but still interested in the organization, contact Amy Henning 838-2125.

The Antioch Chapter-Aglow International holds its monthly brunch meeting Saturday, Sept. 18 at Hunter Country Club, one block east of Route 12 on Route 173, in Richmond. Fellowship is scheduled 9-9:25 a.m. with brunch served at 9:30 at a cost of $7.50. Guest speaker is Tammy Slone, wife of spiritual advisor to the group, Thomas. For further information, contact Anne Marie 815-648-2166, Sue 815-648-2744 or Nancy 414-942-9640.

It's audition time! Lemon up those vocal cords and loosen up those dancing shoes for a chance to be a member of the cast of "Oliver!" being produced by PM&L Theatre of Antioch.

Auditions are scheduled for boys and girls ages 8-up at 3 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 18. High school students are invited to either Sept. 18 or 7 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 19. Adults of all ages are asked to come at 7 p.m. Monday, Sept. 20. All auditions take place at Antioch Upper Grade School, 800 Highview Drive.

The show runs weekends Nov. 15-Dec. 5. Director is "Uncle Lar" Larry Bersie of Antioch, music director Cathy Miller of Salem, Wis. and choreographer Alice Byrne of Lindenhurst. For information, phone 395-3157.

When walking into First National Bank-Employee Owned facilities Friday, Sept. 17, do not be alarmed at the lack of formal dress you may encounter.

The employees are participating in "Casual Because We Care" program, enabling employees to dress casually in exchange for a $2 donation to a designated charity. Bank customers can make contributions at either facility, 485 Lake Street in Antioch or 36044 N. Brookside in Gurnee.

This month's benefactor will be the "Ride the Cure for Breast Cancer" Sunday, Oct. 10 sponsored by Miller's Farm in Salem, Wis. Participants will ride horseback through Bong State Recreation Area's 13 miles of groomed trails. Riders must start the trail between 8:30-11 a.m.

For information on either project, contact Karen Kubin 838-BANK.

The Antioch Community High School (ACHS) Student Assistance Program (SAP) presents its 7th Annual Peddler's Alley Craft Show 9 a.m.-4 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 25 at ACHS Commons and gym foyer areas.

Different, yet similar challenges facing today's religious ministries

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Community Editor

Working with youth or adults, some challenges are the same for religious ministers.

For Bob Brown, new youth pastor at Antioch Evangelical Free Church, overseeing the 50 junior high (grades 7-8) members and 20 senior high (freshman-senior) members in the two youth programs are his main challenge and focus as the school year begins.

"One of the biggest challenges facing kids today is the challenge of the absolute truth and believing in the absolute truth," explains Brown. "Being able to accept the influence of other people's ideas and validating those ideas can be difficult."

Juggling schedules is a major challenge for the youth, as well as Brown.

"My biggest challenge is getting a grip on everything that's going on regarding the youth program," explains Brown. "Being responsible for it all and doing the right things for the youth in this area is a challenge."

For Steven L. Yates, newly installed as music minister, coming from the parental side gives him a different view and challenges.

"The world and worldly views are pulling your children away from you," explained Yates. "You try to keep their hearts in the right spot. You want to not let the world yank them out. In some ways you try to keep them corralled."

As a music director, Yates wants to "provide worshipful music" at the Sunday services.

"Organizing things is a very time consuming aspect because of the number of musicians and amounts of music we're involved with," Yates said. "It's not as challenging as the youth minister, who is dealing with the young people having the world pull at their hearts and minds."

"The world is not pulling the musicians away," Yates adding, noting he has 15 musicians and 20 singers who he is working with.

An additional challenge for Yates is the fact the previous music directors information on the computer was lost when the computer "crashed."

"We're trying to overcome that," Yates said, with a laugh.

For Yates, his family is involved with his ministry. Wife, Laura, sings and plays in different groups. The children, 21-year-old Tierani, 13-year-old Lindsey, 12-year-old Elliott, 10-year-old Dylan, 8-year-old Molly, 6-year-old Emily and 3-year-old, are all musicians and involved at the church participating in praise groups.

Lindsey is one of the drummers for the contemporary bands. The children ages 8-13 have a secular band, "The B-Sharps," which performs in the area at Taste of Antioch and the Lake County Fair, along with neighborhood block parties. "We've completed our summer tour," Yates quipped.

"This is a great congregation," Yates said, to which Brown agreed. "It's a very God loving group."

"This congregation has a huge vision for the future," Brown added. "It's continuing to grow. They're talking about a huge building project within the near future."

Along with the physical and spiritual growth of the church, Brown and Yates are interested in expanding their respective ministries to keep up with the expansion.

"It's neat to see such a large vision," Brown concluded, with Yates in total agreement. "I'm sure God will bless that."

MINISTERS: Reflect growing community in Antioch

church world and wanting more to do music for God's work," explains Yates. "With my recording studio being one hour away, it seemed like God's calling for me to do this ministry."

"While praying was not particularly the environment I came from, when I would meet people here at the church, I'd talk with them and they would ask me to come and pray with them, even with staff members," admits Yates. "It has been kind of refreshing to see God at work in this place."

After having helped out at churches in the past in a part time role, Yates decided to do it full time. "It's been immediately a hit for me, personally."

The church uses two types of musical based liturgies. One side is more traditional, using the hymns. The other is more contemporary, using three bands which rotate the services they perform at.

A small choir sings at the 8 a.m. service. The other two services "are a little more on the progressive side."

Yates background from the recording side is expected to help expand the offerings of the church. Having recorded and produced CDs, Yates plans to expand the church's music ministry as an outreach by recording hymns and songs done at the services to have available.

Regarding outreach, The Maze scheduled from 6-9 p.m. Oct. 27-30, has been a tradition for the past five years which will be continued by Brown.

"We use a lot of large cardboard boxes which make the large maze in the gymnasium. The boxes have various clues within them using Bible verses. People have different doors to choose from to advance, and sometimes when they choose the wrong one, the people at the doors will have moved while they were inside," explained Brown.

The event, used as a major fundraiser for the Youth Program, drew an estimated 2,000 people who went through it in the four nights last year. Donations from various companies within the area assist in keeping costs down, including the actual construction of the maze while takes hundreds of rolls of duct tape and actual cardboard boxes.

"While they're waiting, we have drama and music groups performing," Brown continued, adding the maze takes approximately 1 hour and 15 minutes to complete. "It's an alternative to Halloween theme events, showing it doesn't have to be scary to be fun."

"The Maze requires a lot of details, and fortunately I've been able to delegate a lot of responsibilities to different people who have come forward volunteering," Brown said.

Admission is $3 per person. This year, knee pads will be available for the "older kids" at heart who wish to circumvent the maze.

A second fund raiser for the Youth Program includes a dramatic play produced, directed and performed entirely by the youth group members. The play is performed at a dinner theater in the spring, sometime in March.

The youth group prepares and serves the dinner in addition to handling the duties related to the play.

Some of the funds raised will be used to help finance a summer mission trip to Nashville, Tenn.

Brown has a masters degree from Trinity Evangelical Divinity School and previous experience in a Baptist Church.

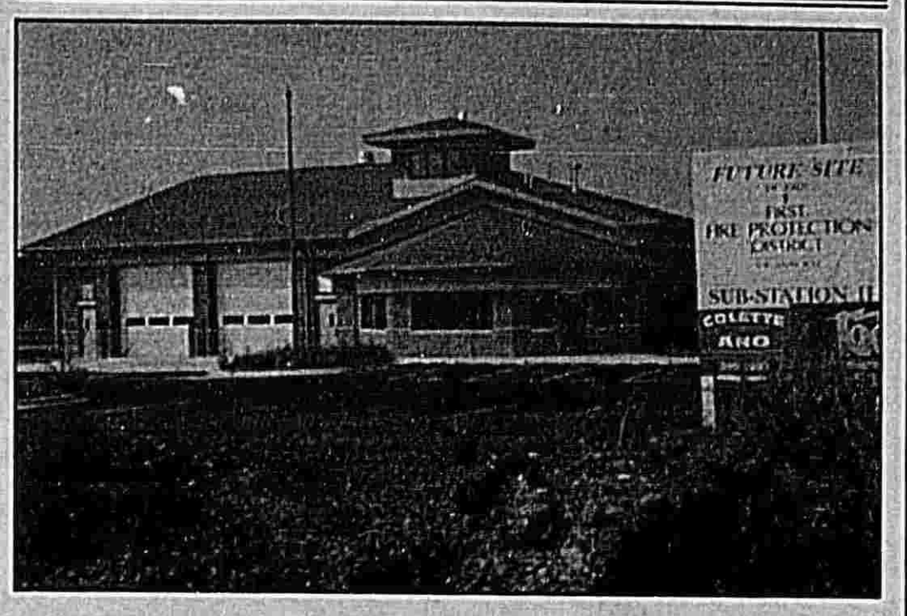

Yates earned a bachelor of arts degree in music education at Northeastern University, then serving as an instructor for grade schools through Columbia College and the University of Illinois.

All proceeds from the Mayor's Challenge will benefit the Chicagoland Affiliate of the Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation.

More than 180,000 women in the United States will die this year from breast cancer - 2,100 of them will be from Illinois. Our own community has been touched in so many ways by this disease. The pictures shown on these pages are images of citizens in our town whose lives have been impacted by breast cancer. On Race Day, we will honor them at the opening ceremony. Eliminating breast cancer as a life threatening disease is the mission - please join us in making that mission possible. Run, walk, raise pledges or become a corporate sponsor.

Inspiration, enlightenment highlights student summer trips

By JULIANA WALSWORTH
Staff Reporter

Sequoit Pride and the Lions Club made it possible for 10 Antioch Community High School (ACHS) students to travel and share ideas with students from all corners of the world.

Six students spent a week at the Presidential Classroom in Washington, DC.

Jennifer Rogers said,"It was most interesting to see different views and apply them to my own life."

Rogers said she could sense the government realizes her generation is the future and the students who attended would be some of the people who will change the nation's government.

Steve Fox enjoyed sitting on the floor with the House of Representatives. Fox said he really learned a lot about how the government works during his experience in the nation's capital.

Three students attended the Youth for Environmental Sanity program in Maine.

Sarah Koth described the experience as "great for students who plan on making a difference in the world."

The program was based on how people's decisions effect the environment.

Koth described the experience as "very liberal." Koth said she met a lot of people with views that shocked her. This enabled Koth getting used to accepting ideas that were very different from her own.

The views of others did make an impact on the Antioch students.

One student left for Maine a meat lover and came home a vegetarian.

Sylvia Skripkauskaite went to a Foreign Affairs seminar at the University of Wisconsin-Whitewater. Skripkauskaite said, "It seemed like everyone was from one little corner of the earth because everyone became so close."

Many of the students are maintaining contact with students they met during their experiences.

One mother said,"Thank God for e-mail to use instead of long distance calling."

Superintendent Dennis Hockney thanks the community for giving students opportunities to experience what they could not within the walls of the school.

Bicycling Through Bermuda

by JIM WARNKEN, President, North Star Travel, Inc.

Born in October of 1931, the Bermuda Railway lived only 17 years, making its final run in 1946. Seems the popularity of the automobile put "Old Rattle and Shake," as it was affectionately known, out of business.

This short-lived Railway did, however, leave behind a memorial.

Starting from Old St. George's to Somerset, a single-track trail still cuts westward through 21 miles of this 27-mile-long island, providing an ideal bicycle trail.

As you cycle past seascapes, forests of spice trees, and jungle-like foliage you can almost hear a ghostly train whistle. There are plenty of opportunities to cool off if you want to swim the few gaps past the pylons that once supported the train trestles.

In fact, if you're really into the "fitness thing" you can do your own mini triathlon. You can do the 21-mile Railway trail, swim the open section between Ferry Point Park and Coney Island (not the one in New York) and bicycle 25 miles back on the paved South Road route.

For the rest of us, the Old Bermuda Railway Trail is just fine for a leisurely bicycle ride or relaxing walk.

Bermuda's weather also makes it an excellent choice for long bike rides. Located about 800 miles off the coast of North Carolina (no, it's not in the Caribbean) it's far enough North so that summer temperatures rarely rise above the mid 80s. While not as warm as Jamaica in January, the Gulf Stream keeps winter temperatures in the upper 60s.

The Bermuda Department of Tourism has an excellent brochure of the trail complete with photos and a section-by-section map. I can't seem to get them to send me more than one at a time, but you can get one from them directly by calling 1-800-223-6106 and ask for "The Bermuda Railway Trail Brochure."

Lake Geneva Classic Car Rally Sept. 25-26

Swinging into 2000" is the theme of the currently popular swing era revival to be re-enacted when hundreds of classic, special interest and swing era vehicles will again converge on the Lake Geneva, WI. area for the 22nd Annual lake Geneva Classic Car Rally on Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 25-26. The weekend long tour around the lake will again include a genuine 40's swing band at the lakefront Riviera Ballroom.

The annual event is sponsored by the Corinne Kreissl memorial Foundation, Inc., of Lake Geneva with cooperation of the American Cancer Society, Geneva Lake Chamber of Commerce, Lake Geneva Rotary Club and Interlaken Resort and Country Spa as host site. Over $5,000 in prizes await the winners of the around the lake tour for children's cancer research.

To date $300,027 has been raised for the American Cancer Society through a grant known as the Corinne Kreissl memorial Foundation Grant for Cancer Research. The project is focused on investigations of cause and prevention.

The weekend kicks off with a "Taste of the Car Rally" party on Friday evening, Sept. 24 at Craig and Samantha Richardson's home — "Vagabond" on the south shore of Lake Geneva.

On Saturday morning from 9-11 a.m. there will be an "Up Close and Personal Vehicle Encounter" Car Show on Wrigley Drive across from Geneva Lake by the Riviera in downtown Lake Geneva. At 11 a.m. a parade through town will begin from the Riviera, past the lake front to end at the Interlaken Chalet for registration for the Rally. No registration is necessary for car show or participation in the parade and all are invited.

Another feature of the Car Rally is the Eddie Cash Show at the historic Belfry Theatre in Williams Bay. At exactly 3 p.m. on Sept. 25, Eddie Cash will do a free benefit performance for all Car Rally participants to help in the fight for childhood cancer research. The one-hour show can be included into the tour around the lake between stops.

On Saturday evening the Riviera Ballroom will be the site of a Hubcap-Runningboard Gala featuring the Jack Farina Big Band. The popular Swing Band will bring back the sounds that the Riviera was originally meant for. Because of limited space at the Riviera the popular dance has been sold out since July.

Another dimension will be added when an antique wood boat show and antique outboard motor display will be taking place at the Abbey Resort in Fontana. The event, sponsored by the Blackhawk Chapter of the Antique and Classic Boat Society, Inc., and the Midwest Chapter of the Antique Outboard Motor Club, will feature an in-the-water show and display on Saturday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Not only will dealing for the Car Rally be at the Abbey, but boaters can participate in the Classic Car Rally by stopping at participating stops on the water in each of the five zones around the lake.

Sunday, as Rally participants complete their around the lake tour ,a vehicle show will be staged on Interlaken grounds on Lake Como, a fly-over by antique aircraft and Warbirds from the WWII era will take place before the awards program and finale at 2:30 p.m. at the Chalet.

Registration is on Saturday from 11:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. and on Sunday from 8-11 a.m. Prizes, trophies, consolation prizes and dash plaques to participants will be awarded as well as many door prizes from area businesses. Souvenir badges will be sold on the grounds all weekend for a $1 donation, but admission is free.

Participants in the Rally can register by mail by contacting the Corinne Kreissl Memorial Foundation, Inc., P.O. Box 732, Lake Geneva, WI. 53147. Registration forms are also available at the Geneva Lake Area Chamber of Commerce and at all participating locations. For more information please call 414-248-2764.

George, Janice and Kurt Kreissl proudly display their 1939 Ford Deluxe Tudor, the trademark car of the Classic Car Rally. The Kreissl's originated the Rally in memory of their daughter, Corinne, an infant victim of cancer.

This 1955 Pontiac Convertible owned by Bill and Jean Wagner of Antioch was proudly displayed at last year's Lake Geneva Classic Car Rally. All proceeds benefit the American Cancer Society childhood cancer research, in memory of Corinne Kreissl.

ICE: Rinks sprouting up

Rink Side, too, will hold competitions and exhibitions. During the grand opening celebration, many children and teen-agers participated in a special ice skating exhibition for the large crowd gathered in the seating area and around the rink. Janel Seliga, director of figure skating for Rink Side, said the arena plans to host four skating exhibitions each year.

Glacier will be host to two major hockey groups from the area, including the Falcons, a youth hockey association with 900 members, and the Chicago Chill, members of a AAA program that incorporates the best players in the area. Both groups will be "significant users" of the arena, Pedrie said.

A grand opening celebration is scheduled for the week of Nov. 8 at Glacier Ice Arena. It will include special skating sessions, tours and drawings.

"The Glacier Ice Arena is committed to the operation and development of high-quality, cutting edge, affordable organized skating, recreation and entertainment," said Deborah Williamson, general manager of Glacier. "We will be focusing on fun for every participant."

Soon, all of Lake County will be able to participate in the icy sports year-round, whether it be in the dead of winter or in the heat of summer.

SPECIAL EVENTS

Mexican folkloric dancers, Horizontes Mexicanos will perform at Brookfield Zoo's Fiesta para Todos on September 18 and 26.

Brookfield Zoo's Fiesta para Todos celebrates Hispanic Heritage Month

Head "south of the border" and celebrate Hispanic Heritage Month at Brookfield Zoo's Fiesta para Todos, Saturdays and Sundays, September 18-19 and 25-26, from noon to 4:00 p.m. The "party for all" highlights the creatures and cultures of Latin America from the Rio Grande to Chile's southernmost tip and every place in between.

Guests can begin their visit with a bilingual, self-guided walking tour of the zoo's many animals from Central South America, Mexico and the Caribbean. Along the way, guests will see golden lion tamarins from Brazil, a gila monster from northern Mexico, spectacled bears and Andean condors from the mountains of Peru and Ecuador, and many others.

From 2:00 to 3:00 p.m., guests can get a closer look at animals native to Latin America. Keepers will accompany Children's Zoo residents to interact with guests on the east Mall.

Each day during Fiesta para Todos, the zoo's East Mall will be filled with the sounds of live music and the folkloric dancing that make Latin American cultures unique. Many entertainers are scheduled to entertain.

Also at the East Mall, visit Brookfield Zoo's docents (volunteer educators) at the Activity Oasis from noon to 3:00 p.m., presented by the Hair Cuttery. In the Andes, Llama wool is still used as a principle materials for clothing, because it is perfectly suited for the harsh climate. Guests can learn more about Llamas and observe professional spinners transform wool combed from the Llamas into soft yarn. Young guests can also find out the connection between coffee and birds migrating to Central and South America.

Don't leave the East Mall without learning how to create beautiful weavings, similar to those from South America. Or, take a little South American culture home with you and stop by the zoo's Culturas de la Costa gift shop. The shop is located at the South American Marketplace.

For more information about Brookfield Zoo's Fiesta para Todos, call (708)485-0263, ext. 879. For more information on Brookfield Zoo, visit its Web site at www.brookfieldzoo.org.

Annual 5K Run at Chicago Botanic Gardens Sunday

Runners, walkers and families are invited to dash over to the Chicago Botanic Garden's annual 5K Run/Walk on Sept. 19. The 1999 Get Ready, Get Set, Grow event allows participants to enjoy the Garden's beautiful, natural surroundings while getting some exercise and benefiting the Garden's education programs.

The day's activities include a 5K Run, a 5K Family Walk with plenty of stops along the way, a Junior half Mile Run for youngsters 7-10 years-old, a Junior Mile Run for youngsters 7-14 years-old, and a Garden Gallop for kids 6 years and under, Moms and dads, with or without strollers are welcome. The Garden's Harvest Festival features live entertainment, healthy cooking demonstrations, games and activities for the whole family.

5K Run

The 5K run (3.1) miles) starts near the Garden's Gateway Center and takes participants on the perimeter paths and roadways of the 385-acre garden. The course meanders around cool lagoons bursting with flowering water lilies, through rustic woodland settings and manicured gardens and finishes at the Gateway Center. Certified by the United States of American Track & Field, the course provides water stops at mile 1, mile 3 and the start/finish line. Awards go to the top three men and top three women in many age groups.

5K Family Walk/Run

The entire family is invited to join in for a fast or leisurely stroll on the 5K course. In addition to cool beverages from Dannon Natural Spring Water and Powerade, there will be treats at the finish line, including nature Valley Granola Bars, fresh fruit and an assortment of snacks.

Junior 1/2 Mile & Mile Run

Youngsters 7-10 years can run on the 1/2-mile loop course. Or, youngsters 7-14 years can run a mile on a special-marked path along the perimeter of the Garden. Junior Run awards go to the top three boys and girls in several age groups.

Children 6 years and under can run with goody bag in hand from hospitality station, picking up treats along the way. This course covers a 1/4 mile, and every youngster goes home a winner with an event T-shirt, finisher's ribbon and bag of treats.

Race Day Registration: On September 19 at 7:30 a.m., register and/or pick up your race packet and t-shirt at the Registration Tent located near the start of the Run/Walk. Registration for each event closes 30 minutes before the start of that event. No discounts apply and only cash will be accepted on the day of the event.

Chicago Botanic Garden members receive a $2 discount on each entry (pre-race day only). Each participant receives free parking before 8 a.m. and entry into the Garden, a t-shirt, a goody bag and free treats after the race.

Harvest Festival

After the race activities, participants are invited to stop by the Harvest Festival at the Fruit and Vegetable Garden. A number of family activities are planned including face painting, crafts, live entertainment and healthy cooking demonstrations.

For more information about the 5K Run/Walk and Harvest Festival, please call 835-5440. The Garden is located on Lake Cook Rd in Glencoe.

HOROSCOPE

Aries –
March 21/April 20
You finally get a chance to talk with a loved one about something that has been bothering you for quite a long time now. Don't beat around the bush. Get straight to the point, and try to work things out. If you don't, your relationship could be damaged. Capricorn plays a key role on Friday.

Taurus –
April 21/May 21
A quiet evening at home early in the week turns into quite an adventure, Taurus, when a close friend drops by unexpectedly. Be supportive, and try to help him or her. Don't get upset when things get a little crazy. This person appreciates all that you're doing.

Gemini –
May 22/June 21
You have a relaxing week ahead of you, Gemini. Enjoy it! Pamper yourself, because you deserve it. Spend time with loved ones whom you haven't seen in a while. They have a lot to tell you. A close friend asks you for romantic advice late in the week. Try to help him or her. Pisces plays an important role on Wednesday.

Cancer –
June 22/July 22
Don't let your conscience get the best of you when you yell at a good friend early in the week, Cancer. This person was overly excited and needed someone to calm him or her down. You had to be stern. Don't beat yourself up about it. A loved one gets you involved in a family project. While you're not excited about it, do your best.

Leo –
July 23/August 23
Don't let a co-worker's compliment go to your head early in the week, Leo. You certainly deserve the praise, but it doesn't mean that you can coast from here on out. You still have to work hard. Don't forget that. That special someone takes you out late in the week. Enjoy yourself!

Virgo –
Aug 24/Sept 22
Don't be too eager to lend an acquaintance a helping hand this week. He or she isn't telling you the whole truth. Getting involved with him or her right now will cause you a lot of problems. A loved one shares a family secret with you. Keep it to yourself, because it's not your place to tell anyone about it.

Libra –
Sept 23/Oct 23
A loved one turns to you in a time of need. Don't be upset that you don't know what to tell him or her to do. This person really just wants someone to listen. Be there for him or her. That special someone asks you an interesting question late in the week. Be honest when answering.

Scorpio –
Oct 24/Nov 22
Don't back down when in a discussion with an acquaintance. You know that you are right, so defend your position. This person will realize that he or she is wrong soon enough. Onlookers will be impressed with your actions. Aries plays a key role in your romantic life on Tuesday.

Sagittarius –
Nov 23/Dec 21
Don't be afraid to be blunt when talking to a loved one about a problem that you're having. In order for this person to help you, he or she has to know exactly what's going on. Don't be embarrassed. A close friend reveals his or her true feelings for you. Before responding, think about how you feel and what you really want.

Capricorn –
Dec 22/Jan 20
Stand your ground when a business associate questions a decision that you make. You know that you are doing the best thing possible. Just explain your decision, and this person is sure to support you. A close friend needs a shoulder to cry on. Be there for him or her.

Aquarius –
Jan 21/Feb 18
Don't let a loved one force you to do something that you're against. Stand by your principles, and do what you think is right. He or she will respect you for it. The person whom you've been seeing doesn't call for a while. Don't get upset; he or she has just been busy.

Pisces –
Feb 19/March 20
Even though you don't want to get involved in a family disagreement, you know that you have to. Loved ones are counting on you to help them work things out. Being the mediator will be more rewarding than you think.

Young beauty bares Christ's burden movie review

Juliana Walsworth

If you're looking for a modern day Exorcist, Stigmata is not the movie for you. The difference between a stigmata and an exorcism is as different as black and white, good and evil.

The movie is based upon a long hidden conspiracy within the Vatican, dealing with the Gospel of St. Thomas. The gospel is said by some to be the only authentic scroll that was written by Jesus Christ himself, on the day of the last supper.

A scientist who later becomes a priest, Father Andrew Kiernan, (played by Gabriel Byrne), is sent to all corners of the world investigating miracles.

When Father Kiernan is sent to Brazil to investigate a wall image of a veiled woman, only to conclude it was a common case of erosion, he stumbles upon something he'd never seen before in all his studies.

The recent death of a town priest causes strange occurrences within the church including rain, doves and a statue of the Virgin Mary that cries tears of blood.

Patricia Arquette

The priest is required to return home but hopes to persuade Cardinal Houseman (Jonathan Pryce) to let him go back to Brazil and research further.

Cardinal Houseman goes to great lengths to prevent Father Kiernan from continuing the research in Brazil.

The priest is then notified of a 23 year-old Pittsburgh hairdresser with the markings of the crucifixion of Christ, the symptoms of the stigmata.

This trendy, attractive hairdresser, Frankie (Patricia Arquette) begs the priest for help, knowing the doctors could not be accurate in diagnosing her with Epilepsy.

Father Kiernan cancels out the idea of Frankie being one of the chosen when she firmly tells him that she does not believe in God. All documented stigmata cases were in people with undying faith.

The priest then witnesses a disturbed Frankie running out into the streets after an episode she had at a local dance club. She begins writing and speaking in Aramaic, the ancient holy language. It was then the priest decides to ignore the wishes of the Cardinal Houseman and protect the girl from the turmoil within her.

This loud, colorful and fast-paced film will keep you at the edge of your seat. The plot is intriguing and thought provoking with an ending to thrill.

I give Stigmata three out of five popcorn boxes.

Celtic Fest Chicago line-up showcases internationally acclaimed artists

Celtic Fest Chicago will be held Sept. 18-19 in Grant Park announced Mayor Richard M. Daley. The third annual festival will celebrate the music, dance and Celtic traditions from Brittany, France; Galicia, Spain; Ireland, Nova Scotia, Canada; Scotland, The United States and the U.K.: the Isle of Mann, Cornwall and Wales from 11:30 a.m.-9:30 p.m. each day.

National and international Celtic performances will gather at the Petrillo Band Shell and the Celtic Crossroads Day Stage, offering an amazing overview of Celtic music, ranging from traditional ballads to cutting edge Celtic music.

Headlining the two day celebration is an impressive line-up of reputable musicians, a mix of contemporary and traditional Celtic performers.

The festival will also offer a Performing Arts Stage featuring storytellers, poets and theater groups, a Seisuin Tent, a Celtic Kid's Area, traditional food, a Harp Tent, and a Ceili Dance Tent with dance demonstrations with instructors and open dance sessions. In conjunction with the festival, a Uillean Piper's Tionol will offer advice on playing techniques, reed-making, maintenance and construction by professional pipers. This year, an international bagpipe competition will also be held.

Western singing trio in concert at Woodstock Opera House Sept. 18

The Western singing trio, Riders In The Sky, will be presented in concert on Saturday, Sept. 18 at the Woodstock Opera House. Known as Nashville's favorite singing cowboys, The Riders—"Ranger" Doug Green, Dr. "Woody" Paul Chrisman, and Fred "Too Slim" LaBour—look as though they have stepped right out of a '30s or '40s Republic Pictures movie. Wearing fringed shirts, custom creased hats and high heeled boots, The Riders specialize in the musical genre of the western cowboy song, and their repertoire includes traditional cowboy folk songs, old-time fiddle pieces, hot instrumental jazz numbers, yodel showcases, plus some original songs and off-beat, campy comedy material.

Riders In The Sky will present a concert Sept, 18 at the Woodstock Opera House.

Riders In The Sky have been performing together for 22 years. They have recorded 18 albums, are members of the Grand Ole Opry, have been hosting their weekly Riders Radio Theater program on National Public Radio since 1988, and are about to begin their fifth season of Riders Radio Theater: The Television Show on TNN. To keep up with the times, The Riders have established a website at www.ridersinthesky.com. They present a wholesome, family oriented show that two-year-olds and grandparents can all enjoy at the same time.

The concert is at 5 and 8 p.m. Saturday, Sept 18 at the Woodstock Opera House, 121 Van Buren St, Woodstock. Ticket information may be obtained at the Ticket Office: 815-338-5300.

Adler Cultural Center hosts an evening of music

The David Adler Cultural Center in Libertyville will host "An Evening with Tony Trischka" on Monday, Sept. 20 at 7 p.m.

Trischka is known for his eclectic mix of bluegrass music that has transcended the normal boundaries of the genre. He is credited with blazing new trails with his solo recordings and his unique bluegrass banjo playing. He has had several collaborative projects with such musicians as Bela Fleck, the band Skyline and several others.

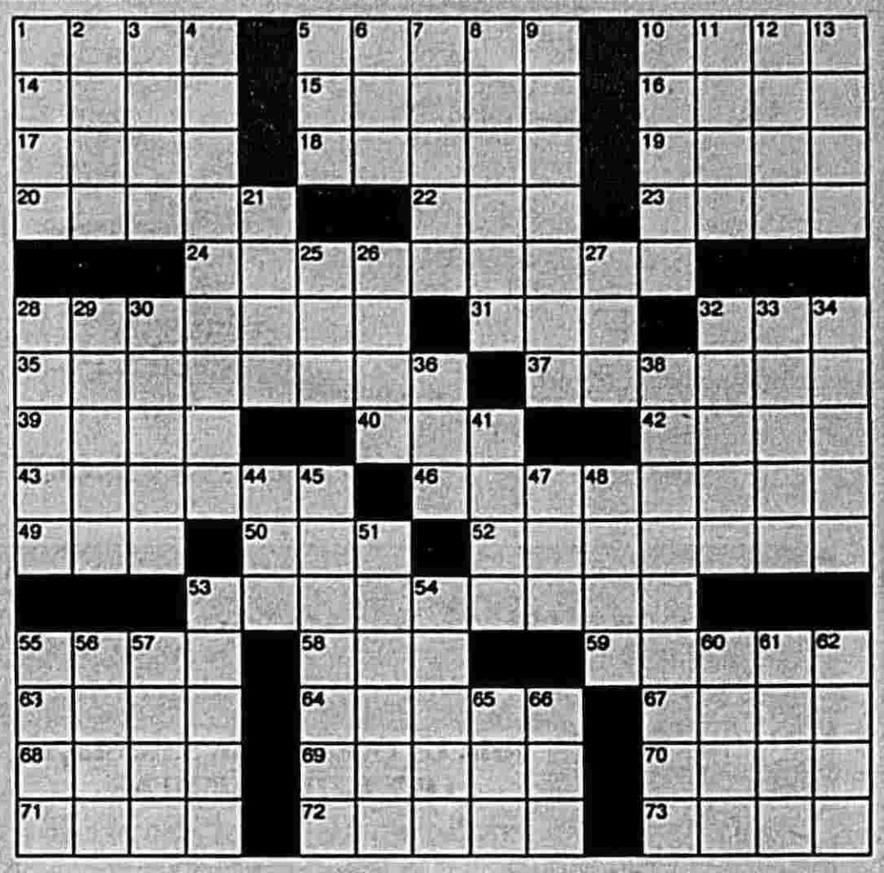

Trischka will give a solo performance in the intimate, acoustically rich, ballroom of the David Adler Cultural Center, located at 1700 N. Milwaukee Ave. in Libertyville. This very special music will be performed on acoustic instruments without amplifiers.

Tickets are $20, $15 for DACC members, and may be purchase in advance or at the door. Seating is limited. Doors open at 6:30 p.m. For more information, please call Brett Neiman at 367-0707.

Tony Trischka

Grand Palace offers 'A Wedding to Remember'

You've found that special someone and now it's time to start planning a wedding you'll remember for the rest of your lives.

The Grand Palace Banquet Center, located in the heart of Lake County's commercial and entertainment Mecca, adjacent to Mings of China, at 5572 Grand Ave., in Gurnee, takes great pride in creating "A Wedding to Remember."

The Grand Palace offers elegant banquet facilities enhanced by crystal chandeliers and soft tapestried walls, perfect for the intimate party of 50, or a grand celebration for 250.

To capture that wedding dream and make it come true, the Grand Palace's professional and experienced banquet coordinator will work with the bride and groom every step of the way, establishing a relationship that will help you realize the perfect wedding fantasy.

Among the many package choices are an American cuisine dinner served family style with main entrees, of roast chicken, sirloin of beef and mostaccioli, and refills upon request. Many other items are available ranging from honey mustard chicken to steak and lobster, or a grand buffet.

Their wedding packages include four hours of bar, hors d'oeuvres, a champagne fountain upon arrival, a full seven-course dinner with your choice of a lovely tiered wedding cake, plus a private bridal room.

For reservations and more information, call Toni at (847) 662-2929 as soon as possible. There are still openings for receptions and holiday parties. The Grand Palace will hold the "Party of the Century" on New Year's Eve to welcome in the new millennium in style. Call early for reservations.

The Grand Palace is also the perfect place to celebrate birthdays, graduations, anniversaries, hold business dinners, and for parties to celebrate every important occasion. There is special pricing for parties held on weekdays, Friday or Sunday.

For out-of-town guests, the Grand Palace is located near I-94, close to Great America and Gurnee Mills, with the convenience of hotels and motels nearby.

Just off of the I-94, at 5572 Grand Ave. in Gurnee.

Facility offers levels of independent living

Residents call selves 'the village people' in close-knit community

By SANDY HARTOGH
Staff Reporter

A new model of the independent living cottages available at The Village at Victory Lakes retirement community in Lindenhurst has recently opened its doors to prospective residents.

"People were having difficulty visualizing themselves in a smaller living space," said Marketing Coordinator, Joni Bouchard. "We saw the need for prospective residents to see what our independent living cottages look like after they are furnished and decorated."

The Village is the only retirement community of its kind in north Lake County. Sponsored by non-profit Victory Health Services, it is "unique in that it offers a long-term health commitment to its residents," says Bouchard.

She pointed out that while the community would like to keep its independent living residents "independent," health issues may dictate otherwise. In that event, two levels of care are available in the forms of assisted living and a skilled nursing facility.

There are 40 prairie style cottages in the 68-acre community, which range in size from 1,000- to 1,500-square-feet.

Two and three-bedroom single story cottages are available with a one-car attached garage. They feature living and dining areas, full kitchens with appliances and large windows that look out to the surrounding Duck Lake Farm Forest Preserve and prairie.

Emergency response systems, lawn service and snow removal are included, while optional housekeeping and dining services are offered.

The Village's 30,000-square-foot community center offers independent living residents amenities such as a health/fitness club, a library, a deli/ice cream parlor, a gift shop, a barber/beauty shop and banking facilities. Private dining areas are available for personal use, and there is regularly scheduled bus transportation.

"The Village is almost a city unto itself," said Bouchard. "Residents really don't have to leave The Village to find what they need."

Just this summer, a treatment and surgical center was opened on The Village campus, which is "great for diagnostic procedures," Bouchard pointed out.

The Village includes an independent living apartment building, 60 assisted living suites and a 120-bed nursing facility.

These "quite affordable" cottages are offered to persons age 62 and older who have an active, independent lifestyle, says Bouchard. There are currently 125 "Village people"—a name the residents gave themselves—living in the cottages and independent living apartments.

"Our residents thoroughly enjoy the location," she claims. "We have walking paths throughout the village, and there is even a community vegetable garden where the residents get together for chitchat."

The public is invited to view the model cottage, experience the lifestyle of The Village people and assess whether the lifestyle is appropriate for their loved one's retirement years.

Eighty-five percent of car safety seats are used incorrectly

Here are some tips to help parents ensure that child is secured properly in the car

All 50 states require by law that infants and children must ride in car seats or use a safety belt. Still, more children are killed or injured in car crashes each year than in any other type of accident. Many of these injuries can be prevented with the correct installation and use of car safety restraints.

September is National Baby Safety Month, and in an effort to help educate parents so they are aware of proper car seat use and installation, Children's World Learning Centers, a leading provider of early care and education, in conjunction with the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA), has developed the following safety tips to guide parents in safely transporting their children:

•All children 12 years and younger should ride properly buckled up in the back seat.

•Do not place a rear-facing child safety seat in the front seat where an air bag is present.

•Follow the manufacturer's instructions for both the car safety seat and the vehicle in which it is installed.

•Fill out and mail in your product registration card for the safety seat. By doing so, you will be notified of any recalls involving your safety seat.

•Most manufacturers recommend against using a child safety seat that is more than six years old.

•Do not use a car seat that has been involved in an accident. This may compromise the strength of the car seat structure and you may not be able to see internal damage to the car seat.

•When installing a car safety seat, kneel into the car seat with your own weight as you secure the seat belt. This will get rid of any slack in the belt.

When transporting your premature or low birth weight baby in a car bed, be sure the infant's head is in the center of the vehicle.

•Read your vehicle owner's manual regarding child seat installation. Seat belts which do not have an automatic locking feature may require a locking clip to hold the vehicle belt tight.

•Infants should ride in a rear-facing child safety seat until they have reached both 20 pounds and 1 year of age. The car safety seat should recline at a 45 degree angle or as directed by the manufacturer.

•Do not overdress an infant, this may cause the harness to fit wrong. It is best to cover the child with a blanket for extra warmth, after securing the harness.

•A car seat's harness retainer clip should be placed at armpit level to keep the straps from sliding off of your child's shoulders.

•A forward-facing car safety seat with a harness is best for children over 1 year who weigh between 20 and 40 pounds.

•If your child is too tall for the convertible seat and weights at least 40 pounds, it may be time to move to a booster seat. Booster seats help position a child and the seat belt correctly until the child is big enough to use a seat belt alone.

•If your car has only lap belts, consider a retrofit shoulder belt kit.

•No matter what type of car seat you are using, make sure that you correctly route the seat belt to secure the car safety seat by following the manufacturer's guidelines.

•If your car has a built-in child safety seat for toddlers, follow the manufacturer's guidelines.

•Keep your child in a booster seat for as long as possible. But once he outgrows the seat, be sure that your vehicle's seat belt fits your child properly. A child is generally ready for the vehicle's seat belts if he can sit with his back flat against the back of the seat, and his knees bend over the seat edge with his feet on the floor. If the seat belt crosses your child's throat or the lap belt crosses the stomach, instead of low and tight across the hips, he should remain in a booster seat.

•Do not tuck a shoulder belt under your's child's arm or behind the child's back.

•If the only place to put your car safety seat is the front seat(such as a truck), check with your local automobile dealership and have your passenger side air bag turned off.

Make it a rule in your car that before starting the engine, everyone's seat belt should be secure, including your own. Setting an example is the best way to get your children to buckle up too. Be consistent about using seat belts and car safety seats. Even if you are only going a few blocks, your child's safety should not compromised.

Take advantage of car safety seat checkups in your community. For locations and dates, call your State Highway Safety office. To report a defect in the performance of your seat belt or child safety seat, or to find out if there has been a recall on your car safety seat, call the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) at 800-424-9393.

Is after school consequence appropriate?

PARENT'S PLACE

Dr. Sherri Singer

Hi Dr. Sherri,

I have a 10-year-old daughter. We have just started the new school year and I am already getting calls from the school. My daughter mildly misbehaves during class time. I am really angry because I have asked the teacher to give me feedback and detail about the acts my daughter does during the day so that I can have consequences waiting at home for her after school. Well, not only does the teacher and school not use any consequences for this behavior, they claim that since the child will really not remember anything from the day, that it is useless to give me any information for after school punishment. When I heard this, I lost it. I want to be able to help my daughter learn from her actions and it seems that the people I am speaking to are not in agreement about it. What do you think? Do kids remember enough for after school consequences? G.G.

Hi G.G.,

Not only do I think that kids can remember these things for after school consequences, I believe that this type of thing is absolutely necessary for any bad behavior to be eradicated.

I applaud your thinking and believe that there isn't enough of it out there! You're not the first parent I have heard say this. If our kids don't remember what they did during the day to have a consequence after school, than it is our job as parents to help them to remember what happened. In fact, I would go as far as saying that this is the main reason that kids keep getting in the same trouble over and over again.

Discipline is usually used as a way to stop the current behavior, but very little is usually done to actually teach the child new skills so that he or she doesn't keep going down the same tired, old path over and over again. They need to learn to connect their behavior and decisions with consequences or rewards.

Let's talk about the school's part in this. First, you need to understand that most schools have guidelines that they are required to follow. Different schools have different guidelines. Some are allowed to use active discipline and others are not. I have walked into some preschools that do Time Out and others that are not allowed to do so. My feeling is this: If the school does not have the ability or the freedom to actually implement immediate discipline for acting out behavior in school, than the least that should happen is feedback for parents so that they can use that opportunity to teach their child something. I view every missed or lost opportunity for a child learning something about new skills and self-control as a big waste. It doesn't have to happen that way.

There are many ways to gain the help and support of a school faculty member. The last thing that you really want to have happen is a fight between you and the school, because as we all know, when that happens, no one gets anywhere. After all, you are both on the same side. The school would like very much to make sure that the bad behavior doesn't keep getting in the way. I have also heard from plenty of satisfied teachers after helping parents to learn to do this correctly.

I will say one more time that I commend you for wanting to follow up with your child in the most complete way. While she won't appreciate it now, your child will appreciate your concern and follow up when she is on the right track in the future!

I have worked with many families on this very issue and can also help you with it. I cannot go into great detail about how to follow up, in this column, since I really don't know you or your specific circumstances, however, I would be glad to get together with you for a consult. The consult would help you with the right things to say and do when dealing with a school faculty person.

Victory outpatient services open in Linenhurst

People in northwestern Lake County and southeastern Kenosha County don't have far to travel for outpatient diagnostic and treatment services any longer. Victory Outpatient Services is open and ready to meet the community's request for quality healthcare services located close to home.

Some of the outpatient services provided are available to area residents without need of a physician's written order. For example, if it is time for a mammogram to screen for breast cancer, a woman need only pick up the phone and call 360-4710 to schedule the test herself. The results will be forwarded to her physician for follow-up. And, most insurance plans cover the cost of routine mammograms.

Other services provided in Lindenhurst include cardiac and pulmonary rehabilitation, CT scans, EKGs, laboratory tests (including blood tests and urinalyses), massage therapy, occupational therapy, physical therapy, speech therapy, stereotactic breast biopsy and x-rays.

Victory Outpatient Services are located in the Victory Surgery and Treatment Center, on the Victory Lakes campus off Grand Avenue, 1050 Red Oak Lane, Lindenhurst. For information on available services and center hours, call 356-4700, Monday through Friday, between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

Dawn Kennedy, R.T. (left)and Debbie Yost, R.T. (right), welcome Elaine Beaulieu, Fox Lake (center), to Victory Outpatient Services. Beaulieu was honored as the first patient to receive diagnostic health services in the Victory Surgery and Treatment Center, Lindenhurst. Beaulieu, who received a CT scan, reported the location was more convenient to her Fox Lake home than driving to the hospital.

Home & Garden FALL '99

Fast and easy wallpaper projects warm up your home for fall

So you don't have time to remodel the kitchen, add a new guest room or paint the living room in time for holiday and fall festivities. But, if you've got a little wallpaper and an afternoon, you can breathe new life into any room.

If you're looking to make a big impact with little money and time, try borders! Decorating with wallpaper borders is a fast, easy and economical way to add style to any room. Available in a variety of designs, borders can add architectural interest, highlight special areas and define spaces.

When using borders to frame a room, select a border with a nondirectional print, as directional prints may not be pleasing to the eye when hung upside down. Also, don't think you are limited in your border pattern. Make your own custom borders by cutting motifs from different patterns and placing them together, or try layering one border on top of another for great drama.

In the past, borders were typically placed along the ceiling line. However today's trend is to hang borders one foot below the ceiling line to create architectural interest. Also, try hanging borders around windows to frame a great view or around doors to add the look of molding. If you're looking for something truly unique, hang borders vertically to create the look of expensive paneled walls.

Wallpaper: Not Just for Walls Anymore

Despite its name, wallpaper can be used on virtually flat any surface to create unusual, unexpected and whimsical looks for the home. Some great projects include:

•Cornices — Use wallpaper to create sleek, tailored cornices. Simply apply a border or the wallpaper of your choice to your cornice box.

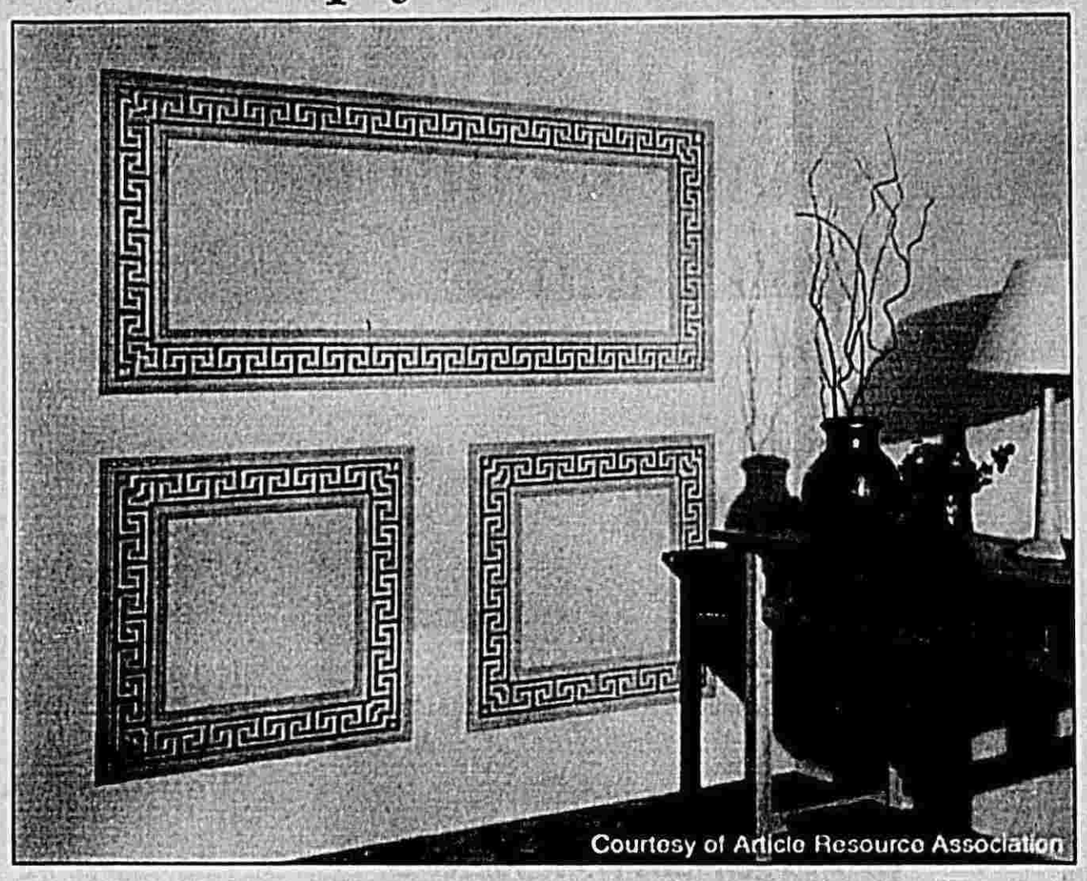

• Furniture —Guests coming for the holidays? Spruce up that guest bedroom with flea market finds made to look like expensive custom pieces. Many "antique" pieces can be covered in wallpaper to create distinctive looking furniture full of personality. Dressers, trunks, headboards and storage cabinets all work well, and wallpaper can be applied over most furniture surfaces — including metal, varnish, paint and laminate.

• Folding screens — No time to do those holiday dishes? Hide them with a folding screen decoratively covered in your favorite wallpaper.

The many different patterns and colors available in wallpaper today allow you to create a multitude of different looks for any room or interior decorating project. Everything from bright bold furniture for baby to the hottest looks in trompe l'oeil can be easy, quickly and inexpensively achieved using wallpaper. The only limit is your imagination.

A Rose by any other name...is a Spray Rose

Often overshadowed by their relatives, the long stems, spray roses are a growing trend for florists and flower lovers. On the market now for several years, the spray rose has taken the spotlight recently with the introduction of a multitude of new colors. Before the end of 1999, spray roses will be available in all of the popular hybrid tea rose hues, including deep reds, pure whites, bronze, lilac and bicolors.

The versatility of the spray far surpasses that of the traditional rose. Sprays are smaller than hybrid teas but larger than sweethearts, and offer at least three individual blooms per stem. "Flower lovers appreciate spray roses for their unique look," notes Julie McCann-Mulligan, creative director for 1-800-FLOWERS.COM. "a fresh-picked garden appearance is created with the varying lengths of lateral stems and because all the blooms on one stem are generally in different stages of development."

Spray roses are also a popular choice for wedding work. they yield a high petal count and usually open slowly, so they continue to look fresh even under the stress caused by a lack of water when used in boutonnieres, corsages or bridal bouquets.

June is National Rose Month and 1-800-FLOWERS.COM is celebrating the spray rose with specials, discounts and rare rose varieties extended throughout the month of July.

New colors have increased demand for spray roses and placed thme in the spotlight.

Roses have beautiful scent, vitamin C, too

Do a dozen roses trigger thoughts of vitamin C? Or does their scent transport you to Cleopatra's royal barge? Sound unusual? It's not. The rose is perhaps the one object in the world which everyone agrees is the definition of beauty, but it also has a rich history filled with mysteries and myths which we continue to uncover.

Most of us wouldn't replace a glass of orange juice with a ripe, red rose, but we could. Rose hips have been found to contain more Vitamin C than any other fruit or vegetable. In more recent discovery, archaeologists in Colorado unearthed a fossilized rose estimated to be at least 35 million years old.

No one loves roses more than Cleopatera. According to legend she drenched the sails of her royal barge in rose water to perfume the breeze as she sailed down the Nile. In fact, if you don't love the rose, you are in the minority. "Nearly 900 acres of greenhouse area is dedicated to the production of the fresh cut roses in the U.S.," notes Julie McCann-Mulligan, creative director for 1-800-FLOWERS.COM. Annually, 9 billion roses are produced around the world."

In honor of the rose's mysticism and ageless beauty, 1-800-FLOWERS.COM celebrated "Rose Month" and offered discounts, specials and rare varieties of roses throughout the month of July.

Most furnaces have only two speeds: on or off. So your home's temperature constantly rises and falls. But the variable-speed Trane XV 80 produces a steady flow of warmth for wonderfully even comfort. And because it can operate at lower speeds and it's over 80% efficient, it's incredibly economical to operate. Call us for a demonstration.

Come see the big hitters!

What a way to cap off yet another great golf season in the Chicago area by checking out some of the biggest hitters around!

Some of golf's longest hitters from across the United States and Canada will be on hand this Saturday at St. Andrews Golf Club in West Chicago for the Illinois-Wisconsin District Qualifying event of the RE/MAX World Long Drive Championship.

They will be competing for the rights to advance to the finals next month, where a $250,000 purse awaits. The finals will be held Oct. 20-24 at Palms Golf Club in Mesquite, Nevada and be televised (tape delay of course) on ESPN Christmas Day.

Participants were selected through a series of qualifying events held last spring and summer.

Now in its fifth year and the largest long-drive competition in the world, the RE/MAX World Long Drive Championship attracts competitors from Canada, England, Germany, Japan, South Africa and the United States.

Competitors who reach the finals in Nevada are guaranteed $300, with the top prize in the Open Division being $75,000 while $12,000 is awarded to the Senior Division winner.

Forty-six contestants have qualified for the district event, with 32 in the open division and 14 in the senior category, from which two hitters from the open and one from the senior division moving on to Nevada.

One big hitters expected to be there is Michael Kintis, a chemical engineer for Baxter and Gurnee resident.

Kintis qualified for the districts at four different sites and is no stranger to the district and national levels.

His best finish was 20th at the nationals in 1994. Kintis' career-long drive in competition was measured at 380 yards.

In the first round at St. Andrews, the competitors will be divided into groups of four, with everyone hitting six drives. The longest hitter in each group of four then advances to the second. A wild card slot is also open for a non-group winner hitting the longest drive.

Contestants will again hit six drives in the second round, with the longest hitters advancing.

A moulfied double-elimination format will be used for the finals.

Canada's Jason Zuback was last years winner, making long-drive history with a smack of 361 yards. It was his third straight Long Drive title.

"There are some big hitters out there but I know I have a great chance," said Kintis. "It all comes down to consistency and keeping it in play."

It should be a good one! Maybe we'll see Kintis dethrone the current king and start a streak of his own.

Sequoit soccer sizzling with 6-0-2 record

By JOHN PHELPS
Sports Editor

Antioch varsity soccer has taken no prisoners thus far in the early going. Well, last weekend was a prime example as the Sequoits went 3-0 in capturing its own invitational.

In the first game of the tournament, ACHS powered past Westosha Central (Wis.) 10-2. Adam Schuster was brilliant, scoring a school record five goals (for one game). The previous mark was held by four others and hadn't been touched since 1992. Furthermore, Schuster dished out one assist, good for 11 total points for one game and yet another school record.

"Adam saw the openings in that game," said Sequoit head coach Charlie Trout. "He had six one-on-one opportunities and buried five of them."

Matt Miclea, Steve Alberts, Jeff Prorok, Danny Blagojevic, and Mike Botten each scored single goals to cap off the opening game victory.

Prorok and Peterson also had four assists in the game, tieing yet another Sequoit school record. The team set another school record by dishing out 11 assists for the contest.

Nick Placko was the winning goalie in each of the three Sequoit victories on the afternoon.

Antioch wound up blanking Zion-Benton in the title game, 7-0.

Matt Miclea, who only played the first 20 minutes, added to his team-leading 13 goals by finding the net three times. That was his third hat trick of the season and fourth multiple-goal game of the season.

Schuster, Michael Wheeler, Jason Myers, and Zack Pratt also recorded goals for the Sequoits.

Placko was again the winning goalie. He has 4 1/2 of the teams six shutouts thus far on the season.

"We're playing well and doing a great job defensively," added Trout. "We've only yielded three goals in our first eight games. And offensively, our midfielders are doing a great job of creating opportunities for our strikers."

Antioch travels to Round Lake Thursday for a 6 p.m. contest.

Sequoits romp over Warhawks in Blue Jacket Classic

By JOHN PHELPS
Sports Editor

After starting with a tough season-opening loss, the Antioch varsity football team seems to be running on all cylinders. Case in point was a 28-2 thrashing over host North Chicago in a key North Suburban opener last Saturday.

It happened to be the annual "Blue Jacket" Classic, honoring the nearby Naval Academy and the men and women who serve this country.

The gala included exibits, a parade, the color guard and ROTC performing at halftime, a carnival across the street, and oh yeah, there was a football game-one that North Chicago, who got off to a fast 2-0 start, would probably like to forget.

"This was pretty cool and a big deal," said Sequoit head coach Del Pechauer. "After the game, all of the kids were presented with medals from the Admiral. There was also a great crowd and a lot of recruits. It was a really nice afternoon-North Chicago does a really nice job for this."

As far as the game was concerned, "We didn't look too impressive in the first quarter," added Pechauer. "North Chicago is still a very scary team mostly because of its speed."

Running back Mark Purnell didn't have any problems with his speed, finding the endzone three times on the afternoon. He finished with 107 yards on 17 carries. Teamate Adam Niles accounted for the other Sequoit score and complemented Purnell with 70 yards on 18 carries.

North Chicago's only points came on a safety early in the contest, the result of a bad snap on an punt that went out of bounds in the endzone.

"Our defense stepped it up," said Pechauer. "They were inside our 10-yard line twice. But we stoped them once and Dave Vanderkooy recovered a fumble."

Quarterback Don Lackey had a so-so afternoon, tossing for 100 yards on 9-of-19 passing.

The Sequoits (2-1, 1-0 NSC) travel to Zion-Benton this Friday for a 7:30 NSC contest.

"They're a tough 1-2 team," said Pechauer. "They have good special teams and have played some quality

Antioch golfers knocking at the door!

By JOHN PHELPS
Sports Editor

Chances are, when you play better competition, your game is going to escalate. Well, the Antioch varsity boys golf team has been the bridesmaid in three tournaments so far this season, including a second-place finish in the Antioch Invitational last weekend at Spring Valley CC in Salem, Wis.

In two of the three tournaments, the Sequoits finished behind North Suburban power Lake Forest, the winner in Saturday's tournament with a four-man team score of 302.

The Sequoits had balanced scoring in finishing at 311, followed by Warren (325) third and Bartlett fourth (329) in the 10-team field.

"It was nice to be in the top three, especially against that type of competition," said Antioch interim head coach Jeff Moxley. "It was especially encouraging since we've been on the road for most of our matches so far this season."

Tom Davis fired a 6-over par 76 to finish third, as medals were handed out to the top 15.

Backing Davis was sophomore Andrew Kinney eighth (77), Nate Zeller 11th (79), and Christian Litke 12th (79). Zeller edged his teamate on a scorecard playoff. Though not figuring in the team scoring, John Logan carded an 80, good for 14th place, and Shaun Schuler posted an 83.

"When our top guys aren't playing as well as they would like, there's someone else there to pick them up," noted Moxley.

Case in point was Tuesday, when medalist Logan led the Sequoits to a school record (for nine holes) after firing a 36 in a 149-167 dual meet victory over Mundelein at Spring Valley.

Backing Logan was Kinney and Zeller, each with 37s, and Litke with a 39.

"Everyone was one their game today," said Moxley. "We have some terrific balance on the team. Thursday should be interesting."

That's because Antioch will get another shot, this time head-to-head in a key NSC match with Lake Forest at Spring Valley.

Turning to the girls, the Lady Sequoits have found success as well as of late, finishing seventh in the 14-team Waukegan Invitational at Bonnie Brook CC.

"It was a very tough tournament against some of the top teams around," said head coach Steve Wapon. "It was a good warmup for this weekend."

Wapon is referring to the Antioch Invitational this weekend at Hunter CC in Richmond. Players are scheduled to tee off at 9 a.m.

Meanwhile, Sara Groh led the Sequoits at Bonnie Brook with an 87, followed by Brittany Cable (94), and Carrie Cybul and Mary Stringer (101).

St. Charles won the event with 335 while Antioch tallied and Lake Forest tied for seventh with 383.

"We ended up very respectable but there's still room for improvement," noted Wapon.

The Lady Sequoits then fired a 190 in taking second in the New Trier triangular Tuesday afternoon. The hosts won the meet with a 169.

Groh carded a 42 to lead ACHS

Women's tennis

CLC improved to 10-1 (1-0) after destroying McHenry 9-0 Tuesday. No. 1 singles player Hanna Kazakevich won 6-0, 6-1 and No.2 singles player Julia Kandratouskaya won 6-0, 6-0.

In doubles, Hanna teamed up with Heather Lawrence in No.1 doubles and Julia teamed with Michelle Gottschalk in No. 2 doubles. Both won their matches 6-0, 6-0.

It was the most impressice performance by a CLC team in years. CLC only lost seven games in 18 sets. It was CLC's 26th consecutive conference victory.

Women's soccer

Brook Lorane scored the lone goal as CLC improved to 5-0 after Tuesday's win over Elgin.

Men's soccer

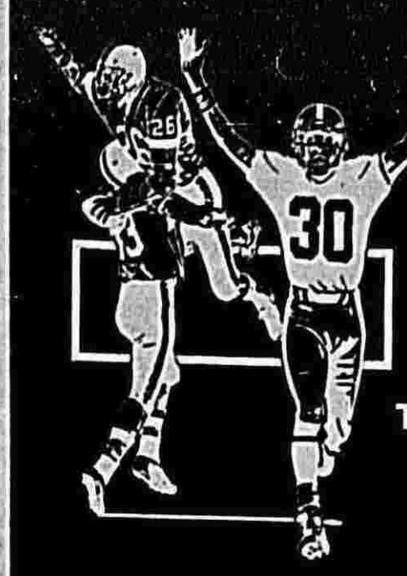

Chris Porter had two goals and an assist, while Dan O'Brien had a goal and an assist as CLC improved to 1-1-1 (1-0) in Tuesday's win over Elgin.

Men's golf

CLC maintained its conference lead after finishing third in Monday's meet. Eddie Niskala led the team with a 78. Other scores were: Josh Navarro-80, Brett Skelly-80, Chris Brown-82, and Mike Freeman-87.

HOW TO PLAY

Select a winner from each of the week's games, listed below. Select in descending order of your CONFIDENCE in your choices. Win points at left for each correct selection toward possible total of 136 points. See complete rules below. You must be at least 8 (eight) years old to enter. To enter, clip along dotted line, then place game entry in POWER POINTS container at co-sponsor's retail outlet(s). Entrants must list name, address and phone number below.

LIMIT: You may enter only once weekly.

DEADLINE: 2 P.M. FRIDAY

TIEBREAKER 1 ☐ Total points scored (both teams) in BEARS game.

TIEBREAKER 2 ☐ Total offensive yards (both teams) in this game.

THIS WEEK'S GAMES

Atlanta at St. Louis	Philadelphia at Buffalo
Chicago at Oakland	Seattle at Pittsburgh
Cincinnati at Carolina	Tennessee at Jacksonville
Cleveland at Baltimore	Washington at NY Jets
Denver at Tampa Bay	NY Giants at New England
Detroit at Kansas City	Northwestern at Purdue
Indianapolis at San Diego	Michigan at Wisconsin
Minnesota at Green Bay	Michigan State at Illinois

POWER POINTS OFFICIAL RULES

1. Object of the game is to amass as many of the 136 points as you can. Simply review the week's schedule of games, listed on entry form, and decide which game you are SUREST of picking a winner in. Write the name of your projected winner on the 16-point line. If that team wins its game that week, you win 16 points. Write the name of your second-surest winner on the 15-point line, and so on down to the 1-point line, which game you figure to be a toss-up. Next, fill in Tiebreaker 1, the total points scored by both teams in the week's designated game. If this step fails to produce a winner, the judges will apply Tiebreaker 2, total offensive yardage from scrimmage in this game. If a winner still doesn't emerge, a drawing will be held among those contestants still tied. Decisions of the judges are final. The weekly statewide winner of the contest will receive $1,000.
2. Any entry form that does not contain a legible name, address, etc., will be disqualified.
3. Entries that fail to forecast a winner from each and every game will be disqualified, as will entries that fail to distinguish between the Jets and Giants of New York and other similar teams.
4. No points are awarded on tie games or in case any game is not played for any reason during its scheduled week.
5. Entering POWER POINTS constitutes permission by contestant for his or her name and photograph to be used for news and reasonable promotional purposes at no charge.
6. Employees of this newspaper and their immediate families are ineligible to participate.
7. Any inquiry about or protest of weekly results must be made by noon on the Friday following the announcement of winners.
8. No purchase necessary. Facsimile game entry forms will be accepted. Enter contest by dropping entry form into POWER POINTS container at participating co-sponsors.
9. Weekly deadline for entry will be 2 p.m. Fridays except when noted otherwise on weekly entry form.
10. Neither this newspaper nor any co-sponsor will be responsible for illegible entry forms or those lost, stolen or damaged in any way.
11. Limit one entry per person per week. Each entry must represent the original work of one entrant; "group" entries, "syndicate" or other attempts to enter multiple entries will be disqualified. Filling out extra forms and putting your friends' and relatives' names on them violates this rule. Any such entries are destroyed prior to grading.
12. Contestants must have reached the age of eight (8) years by the Sunday of any week's play.

Lake Villa's Hensley going for $10,000 bonus

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Community Editor

LET'S GO RACING . . .

Michael H. Babicz

Lake Villa's Raymond Hensley shoots for a victory of a lifetime this Saturday at The Dodge County Fairgrounds Speedway in Beaver Dam, Wis. in the J&L Oil/United Expressline Interstates Racing Association(IRA) Outlaw Sprint Car Series.

The machine shop repairman at the family business, Avon Automotive, Hensley is in line for a $10,000 bonus if he can score a victory in the main event at Dodge County. Hensley has won two of the three features at the one-half mile facility, finishing back in the field after steering problems in the last outing, which was won by seven-time IRA champion Joe Roe, a Zion businessman from Kenosha. The bonus goes to a driver if they are able to win three of the four features at Dodge County this season.

Hensley, a regular runner in the series, is coming off a busy three-day weekend at the Badgerland Challenge. At Superior Speedway in upper Wisconsin on Sept. 10, Hensley placed third in the feature, won by Craig Dolansky. A seventh-place effort on Sept. 11 at Shawano County Fairgrounds Speedway and a seventh-place Sept. 12 at Sunnyview Speed Zone in Oshkosh completed a successful weekend for Hensley behind the wheel of the Larry Miller-owned sprinter.

IRA point leader Donny Goeden of Kewaskum won at Shawano, while Travis Whitney, driving the Mike Frost-owned car based in Zion, took top honors at Sunnyview.

For information on the IRA, contact Steve Sinclair of Lake Villa, IRA president, at 265-9192 or www.irasprints.com.

At Wilmot Speedway Sept. 11, Pewaukee's Todd Hepfner made it three victories of the last four Star Trac 410 Outlaw Winged Sprints features. For Hepfner and his crew, his good fortunes carried even off the track as his team was the winner of the 50-50 raffle, benefiting Racers Against Hunger and The Original Outlet Mall-Wilmot Speedway Shalom Interfaith Food Bank drive which was held at Wilmot over the past month.

Antioch's Tommy Sexton, after posting fast time in qualifying among the 41 sprint car warriors on hand, took another step toward a season championship with a second place finish. Gurnee's Tony Engels, after experiencing a broken power steering line in a heat race which necessitated his running the "C" and "B" mains, both of which he won, flipped in the feature while battling for third place with two laps remaining. Engels was uninjured, but ended up placing 19th.

Other area drivers had Beach Park's Joe Kristan seventh; Waukegan's Jay Sachs scored a career best eighth place finish; Beach Park's Michael Dubs 10th; Beach Park's Larry Vandervere 12th; Zion's Doug Dean 14th; and, Winthrop Harbor's Brent Mason 20th.

In the final appearance this season at Wilmot by the Wisconsin Mini-Sprint Association (WIMSA) mini-sprints, Muskego's Scott Uttech scored his second WIMSA feature win in as many nights. He had won Sept. 10 at Calumet County Fairgrounds Speedway in Chilton, Wis. John Peters of Round Lake Beach, after winning a qualifying heat, placed 18th in the feature dropping out early with mechanical problems.

Heading into the Saturday, Sept. 18 Dave's American Muffler & Brake Shop Night, Sexton holds a 812-681 advantage over Jeff Ferkin of Kenosha in the season point championship battle with two nights remaining.

In the IMCA modifieds, Lake Villa's Rob Olson has a 28-point (439-411) lead over Ed Devall of Waukegan with two weeks left.

Wilmot Speedway hosts a special presentation by the drama team, "Truth Warriors," during Meet The Driver prior to the evening's sprint car time trials. International Council on Deafness and the Arts (ICODA), based in Northbrook, will have a special autographer helmet display with raffle tickets available along with dinner and family day tickets for the Nov. 6-7 Spotlight on Racing fundraiser available. Wilmot hosts its second racers coat drive. For information, phone 838-RACE, 414-862-2446, the track office 395-0500 or www.wilmotspeedway.com.

Several Wilmot IMCA regulars competed in the prestigous IMCA Nationals held at Boone, Iowa the week of Sept. 8-11. Olson placed fourth in his heat race on Sept. 8, blew an engine on Sept. 9, and had a flat tire while leading his heat race on Sept. 10. He wound up finishing third in a last chance qualifier on Sept. 11. Devall's best showing was 4th in his heat Sept. 8.

Wilmot hosts a special Sunday Funday fundraiser for Lions Club Sept. 19. Proceeds from the event benefit Lions Club programs for the sight and hearing impaired. Time trials are scheduled at 2:30 p.m. with races at 4. Grandstand advance tickets are $5 for adults, $3 for children ages 12 and under. Race day tickets for adults are $7.

Cary's Chris Carlson scored the win in the Rascal Outlaw Sprints feature at Lake Geneva Raceway Sept. 11. Crystal Lake's Jim Veugeler was second; Wilmot's Bob Torkelson third; and Lake In The Hills' Dave Colletti fourth and Round Lake's Larry Surletta was 10th in the super late model feature.

Genoa City's John Janssen won the super stock feature. Meanwhile, McHenry's Adam Regnier, dash winner, was second; Wonder Lake's Zac Deeringer, division point leader, fourth; Antioch's Doug Peterson eighth; Crystal Lake's Scott Eggebrecht ninth; and Lake Zurich's Marty Robb 10th.

Dan Huber won a semi-feature with John Maki, both of Antioch, winning a heat race.

Dan Erickson of Lyons won the sportsman main while Antioch's Jerry Freeman was eighth.

Lake Geneva hosts stadium motocross racing at 8 p.m. Friday, Sept. 17, with season championships for sportsman and super stocks on the card Saturday, Sept. 18, along with super late models and Wisconsin Allison Legacy cars. Racetime 7:30 p.m.

Michael H. Babicz can be reached at (847) 223-8161, ext. 138; fax (847) 223-8810; or e-mail at edit@lnd.com.

Lightening 3-1 at Gatorade Tournament

The Lindenhurst Lightning U-10 girls soccer team posted a 3-1 record recently at The Barrington "Gatorade" Tournament. The Lightning won their first game 5-0, followed by a 5-2 victory in game 2. In the third game however, things got interesting when forward Danielle Kirby was carried off the field by head coach Kawaja with an apparent knee injury.

The Lightning were thrown off balance, resulting in a goal by their opponent 30 seconds after play had resumed.

But in the fourth game of the day later that afternoon, the Lightning regrouped in posting a 3-1 victory behind three goals from guess who-Danielle, who had been cleared to play from the ER doctor. Keepers Julie Dziki and Kia Miller did an outstanding job in goal. Sweepers Sophie Khawaja and Jennifer Zak played also played an outstanding game, as did midfielders Sara Sweeney, Susie O'Connor, Stephanie McGrain, and Stefanie Trulzsch. Forwards Michelle Guerts, Emily Bulow, and Caitlin Duffy also played an instrumental role in the victory.

Dynamo Blue 2-1 at Barrington Gatorade classic

Lindenhurst Dynamo Blue (U-11) made a strong showing in defense of its title, finishing 2-1 in the Barrington Area Soccer League's Gatorade Classic over the Labor Day weekend. The Dynamo Blue, playing in the event for the third year, were the two-time defending champs.

Lindenhurst won its first game, a 3-0 victory over Northwest United Express. Aaron Nichols assisted Brett McKenzie for theDynamo's first goal. The defense toughened and Lindenhurst was able to put another goal through the net, this time when Vivik Gollapudi passed to Chris Hittenmiller. Lindenhurst's third and final goal was scored by McKenzie, who was fed on the play by Nichols.

In the second game Saturday, the Dynamo played hard up and down the field but wound up falling to the South Elgin Tornadoes, who scored late in the game for the 1-0 victory.

"We played great soccer for 50 minutes," said coach Jerry Nichols. "It was disappointing to lose, but it was a great and well-played game."

Then Hoffman Estates came calling Sunday afternoon and the Dynamo were up for the challenge, rebounding from Saturday's loss with a 2-0 victory. Both scores were made from throw-ins, the first by new teammate Andrew Wade to Aaron Nichols for the score. The second goal came when Marek Smith put it into the back of the net off of a long throw-in from Peter Niles.

The U-11 Dynamo Blue, playing in the Red Division of the Young Sportsman's Soccer League, went 0-1-1 last week. The Dynamo lost to the Arlington Aces 3-0 before tieing Lake Forest, 3-3. Against Lake Forest, Aaron Nichols started the scoring with a beautiful unassisted goal. Lindenhurst quickly added its second goal when Danny Pender scored off of a feed from Nichols. The Dynamo Blue then took a 3-2 lead when Chris Hittenmiller was assisted by Brett McKenzie. But LF answered to gain the tie. Strong defense was played by Matthew Reimer, Peter Niles, and John Werchek. Keeper Aaron Schultz made a slew of great saves.

The Lindenhurst Blaze U-10 boys soccer team went 3-1 in claiming first place in its division at the Gatorade Classic.

The Blaze defeated the Hawthorn Woods Stingers 3-1, the Skomor Wildcats 5-0, and the Barrington Blitz White 7-1. The teams only loss was wo the American Eagles 89A, 2-0.

Kurt Houghton and Colin O'Malley led the attack with five goals each for the three games played. Forwards Connor O'Keefe and Kyle Sytsma each chipped in two apiece. Matt Laine and Tommy Stewart played well in goal as the Blaze defense allowed only four goals during the tournament. Leading the defense were sweepers Ethan Hahn and Andrew Stein, while defenders Brian Hook, Alex Kelly, and Ron Herout played an instrumental role in keeping the opponents offense off balance. For the four games, the Blaze outshot its opponents 62-18.

Lake Villa pee-wees cruise past Fox Lake

The Lake Villa Pee-Wee football team cruised past Fox Lake, 31-0. The Wolves offense surpassed 300 yards on the day. Running backs Matt Limbert, Billy Battistone, Nick Waido, and Ted Baramis all played instrumental roles in the Wolves' ground attack. Baramis started and ended the scoring, with touchdown runs of 15 and 71 yards. Waido's touchdown run was from 18 yards out, while Limbert hooked up with Brain Schmidt for two TD passes.

Defensively, John Murphy and Sean Hertz stymied the Fox lake offense.

The Lake Villa Timberwolves Saturday Pee-Wee team kicked off their season last week at Fox Lake. Unfortunately, the Wolves came up on the short end of a 13-12 loss in overtime. Standouts included quarterback Dominic Funari and running backs Jimmy Hanson and Kyle Siedlecki, who both ran for scores.

The Lakeland Cardinals bantamweight team, in its inagural season, opened the year with a 27-7 victory over the Lake Villa Cardinals.

Running back Chris Carlson both over 50 yards.

Quarterback Austin Spohr and running back Thomas Gier each added scores and Tyler Becker had four sacks on the defensive.

SPORTS DIGEST

Rebound Sports, Inc. will be sponsoring two upcoming camps as part of the Dennis Kessel Basketball Training Program.

The first, covering shooting lessons, will begin Sept. 20 and run until October 28. Sites for this part of the camp will be West Oak School in Mundelein, Highwood Recreation Center in Highwood, and the Grayslake Sports Gym in Grayslake.

This program will aim to develop shooting form, ball handling skills, and the ability to score. Each phase of the shot is broken down and analyzed, with the emphasis being on the development of the jump shot. The coach to player ratio is a maximum of 1:4. Power ballhandling, pinpoint passing, and strength and conditioning will also be covered in depth.

The second camp will consist of a high school situational league, which runs Sept. 25 through October 30. The leagues will take place on Saturday afternoons at Fremont Middle School in Mundelein, with boys playing from 12 noon-2:30 and girls from 2:30-5 p.m.

This intense 2 1/2 hour weekly basketball workout is designed to teach the players execution both offensively and defensively at an advanced level in a game-type environment. It will combine both fundamental training and game-type experiences. Each player will participate in 1 1/2 hours of training and one hour of controlled game environment. This program is for all high school players looking to take their game to the next level.

For further information, please contact the Rebound Sports Hotline at (847) 433-1630 or toll free at (877) REBND83.

SEQUOIT NOTEBOOK

Girls tennis

The varsity girls tennis team whitewashed North Chicago last week 5-0. Singles winners included, at No. 1 Mandy Hughes and Silvia Skripkauskaite in the no. 2 position. Doubles winners included Jenny Rogers/Kristen Jensen at no. 1, Heather Zeman/Mary O'Neil at no. 2, and at no. 3, Nicole Edwards and Shelly Barbic. CLC hosts open house to celebrate 30th anniversary

An afternoon of fun, food and learning opportunities will be provided at "A Taste of Learning," an open house hosted by the College of Lake County to celebrate its 30th anniversary on Sept. 25, the actual day CLC opened its doors in 1969. The public celebration, open to the entire Lake County community, will take place from 2 to 5 p.m. at the college's Grayslake Campus.

The festivities will kick into high gear as guests participate in more than 30 different activities, including interactive learning experiences, contests, demonstrations and door prizes. Also included in the festivities will be the burial of a time capsule, which is planned to be retrieved in 20 or 25 years.

Activities featured on the "learning menu" include the following:

"It's Historic," CLC's version of the History Channel will feature history faculty members, dressed in period costume and in character, who will offer their insights into historical events and personages.

"How Maggie Moves," an exciting opportunity to learn about the fascinating world of computer animation used in shows like the "Simpsons."

"It's All In The Numbers," a game that involves questions about fun and interesting sociological data that participants can answer.

"Send Me A Hologram," an exploration of the wonderful and sometimes mysterious world of holograms.

Lake County Museum hosts 'A Night on the Nile'

Dance and dine the night away in support of exciting new exhibits being created for the Lake County Museum. Join the Friends of the Lake County Museum for "A Night on the Nile" fundraising gala on Saturday, Sept. 18 at 6 p.m. at the Lake County Museum. The gala is sponsored by the Friends of the Lake County Museum and Ameritech.

During this special evening, guests will enjoy a jazzy cocktail reception featuring the Andy Margolis Trio and delight in the treasures of the food oases as they dine under the Egyptian sky. The sweet sounds of the Moonlighters will offer guests a chance to dance along the river Nile before aiming their sights on the spectacular items offered in the silent and live auctions. A tasty Egyptian brew created especially for "A Night on the Nile" guests by Mickey Finn's of Libertyville will make its debut at the gala event. A special belly-dancing performance is also planned.

Tickets for "A Night on the Nile" fundraising gala are $100 per person. To purchase gala or raffle tickets in advance or for more information about the fundraising gala, call Mary Ellen Mason, communications and development coordinator at 526-7878.

The Lake County Museum is located in the Lakewood Forest Preserve on Route 176 between Libertyville and Barrington. A nationally accredited museum, the Lake County Museum is one of Lake County's top 10 attractions.

County gets awards

Lake County has recently won five national awards for communications projects, including the county's website, 1998 annual report and 1998 annual videotape.

Hahn joins district

The Lake County Forest Preserve District announced that Tom Hahn will join the district to head the newly-created Land Preservation and Special Projects Department.

Hahn brings to the district more than 24 years of expertise in planning, land preservation and acquisition, and open space planning and administration. The department will focus on acquiring new forest preserve lands, creating more trails and greenway corridors, access to rivers and lakes, protecting against flooding, and saving large refuges for protection of rare species.

Meeting planned

The Navy at Great Lakes is preparing for a 10-year modernization project for Recruit Training Command, Great Lakes Naval Training Center.

To introduce surrounding communities to the project and to reacquaint neighbors to the training mission of the base, a public meeting is scheduled for Sept. 28 from 4 to 8 p.m. The meeting will be held at the Recruit Training Command Welcome Center located on Illinois Street south of Buckley Road, Route 137.

An end to tolls?

Governor's idea for ending tolls stirs discussion in Lake County

By JOHN ROSZKOWSKI
Regional Editor

Could the reign of the Illinois State Toll Highway Authority finally be coming to an end?

Gov. George Ryan's remarks last week that he would like to see the the current tollway system replaced by freeways has created a buzz in Lake County political circles— and brought a round of applause from toll-weary commuters.

But don't hold your breath if you expect to see the tollway booths coming down anytime soon.

Any plans to eliminate the current tollway system will require much study, and the state will have to come up with another means of funding repairs to Illinois' 274 miles of tollways, according to area legislators.

Raising taxes to pay for maintenance of the roads is an option that legislators are less than enthusiastic about. "I don't want to raise taxes for it," said State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis

Proposed VA hospital cuts 'outrage' vets

By JOHN ROSZKOWSKI
Regional Editor

Many area veterans are up in arms over Veterans Administration plans to drastically reduce medical services at the VA Medical Center in North Chicago.

"The vets should be outraged and so should every voter in Lake County about the way this was handled," said Lake County Board member Judy Martini (R-Antioch). "This isn't the way we treat people who put their lives on the line for their country."

The County Board unanimously passed a resolution this week opposing the cuts proposed in the VA budget.

Michigan firm buys Grand Premier bank

First Midwest buys M & I's North Chicago branch in separate deal

By Robert Warde
News Editor

Wauconda-based Grand Premier Financial will be acquired by Grand Rapids, Mich.-based Old Kent Financial Corp., while First Midwest Bank has announced that it has purchased the 14th Street M & I branch in North Chicago.

The deal for Grand Premier, announced Sept. 10 by officials of both companies, values Grand Premier at about $394 million.

Old Kent has been on an acquisition drive the past two years, closing on its purchase of Oakbrook-based Pinnacle Banc Group Inc. earlier in September, as well as completing the purchase of CFSB Bancorp Inc., a $900 million operation based in Lansing, Mich.

In addition to closing the Grand Premier purchase in early

Waterway Agency seeks more funds from state coffer

Secretary of State Jesse White takes tour of Chain of Lakes; pledges his support for agency's efforts

By JOHN ROSZKOWSKI
Regional Editor

Secretary of State Jesse White has occasionally visited the Chain O' Lakes in the past on fishing and camping trips, but he got a whole new appreciation of the waterway during his latest visit.

On a cool, windy day, Fox Waterway Agency officials took White on a nine-mile boat tour of the Chain Sept. 10, traveling through the sometimes choppy waters of Grass, Nippersink, Fox and Pistakee lakes and up to the mouth of the Fox River.

The tour provided waterway agency officials a rare opportunity to show off some of the projects the agency has been involved with—and to make their case for more state dollars to support the agency's efforts.

White applauded the waterway agency "for taking care of this gem" and pledged his support to help secure funding for the agency's future projects.

"After being given the opportunity to see the beauty of the lakes and the projects they are embarking on in the future, I stand in support of their efforts to secure the necessary dollars from Springfield to implement the proposals on the drawing board," said White.

The waterway agency seeks $9.5 million in additional state dollars over the next decade to help with major projects and capital improvement efforts.

Fox Waterway Agency Chairman William Dam urged White and area state legislators who participated in the tour to earmark a portion of the revenue generated from motor fuel tax dollars each year to support the agency. Last year, motorized boats and waverunners on the Chain O' Lakes generated an estimated $2.35 million in motor fuel tax dollars.

Currently, the majority of money raised by the agency comes from the sale of boat registration stickers, with a small operating budget

A DIGEST OF STORIES MAKING HEADLINES THROUGHOUT OUR REGION

Woman sentenced to probation

Gurnee—A Gurnee woman was sentenced to 30 months of probation and 18 months of work-release after embezzling nearly $500,000 over an eight-year period from OMNI Youth Services of Buffalo Grove.

Ana Meltzer, 37, of 18249 Old Hickory Court, worked as a bookkeeper for OMNI beginning in 1990. Between July 1991 and October 1998, Meltzer improperly wrote dozens of checks to herself, said Lake County Assistant State's Attorney George Strickland.

"The checks were written for different amounts but were generally for a couple of thousands of dollars each," said Strickland.

Meltzer pocketed a total of $494,000 through the scheme, Strickland said. The theft was discovered through an audit conducted by OMNI.

No prison time was sought for Meltzer because she has already paid back approximately $200,000, Strickland said.

"She would have had prison time if it hadn't been for the $200,000," said Strickland.

Meltzer was indicted by grand jury on May 5 and was arraigned on May 13. She pleaded "not guilty to the felony theft charge.

Great Pumpkin coming to Gurnee

Gurnee—"It's the Great Pumpkin, Charlie Brown," so says the popular children's Halloween cartoon.

At the fourth annual Great Pumpkin Spectacular, to be held on Sept. 18 from 11 a.m. until 4 p.m. at the Warren Township Center, kids of all ages will have the opportunity to see both the Great Pumpkin and Charlie Brown. A large sand carving of the two Halloween favorites will be on display in the sandlot.

Thousands of pumpkins will be the highlight of the festival. The pumpkins will be available for purchase and will cost anywhere from 50 cents to $3.

Hayrides, pony rides, games, food, live entertainment, and face-painting will provide fun for all. A free goody bag will be given to each child.

Approximately 5,000 people attended last year's event.

Proceeds from the Great Pumpkin Spectacular will go the Warren Assisting Youth (WAY) program.

Construction nearly complete

Mundelein—Quig's Orchard will soon have the look of a country Victorian town.

According to Pam Quig Berek, construction of the new addition to Quig's is expected to be complete this week.

The exterior of the building will include storefronts for the bakery, country store and restaurant, letting passers-by know that Quig's has more than an orchard.

"We wanted to come up with a design which reflects what's on the inside," said Berek.

Inside the main building, additional retail space has been added, which will allow Quig's to offer more products. An occupancy permit for the new addition was issued by Mundelein Building Commissioner Bill Rundall on Sept. 10.

Landscaping is being added near the entrance to Quig's as part of the makeover.

"It's going to be absolutely gorgeous," said Berek.

RL to have cable show

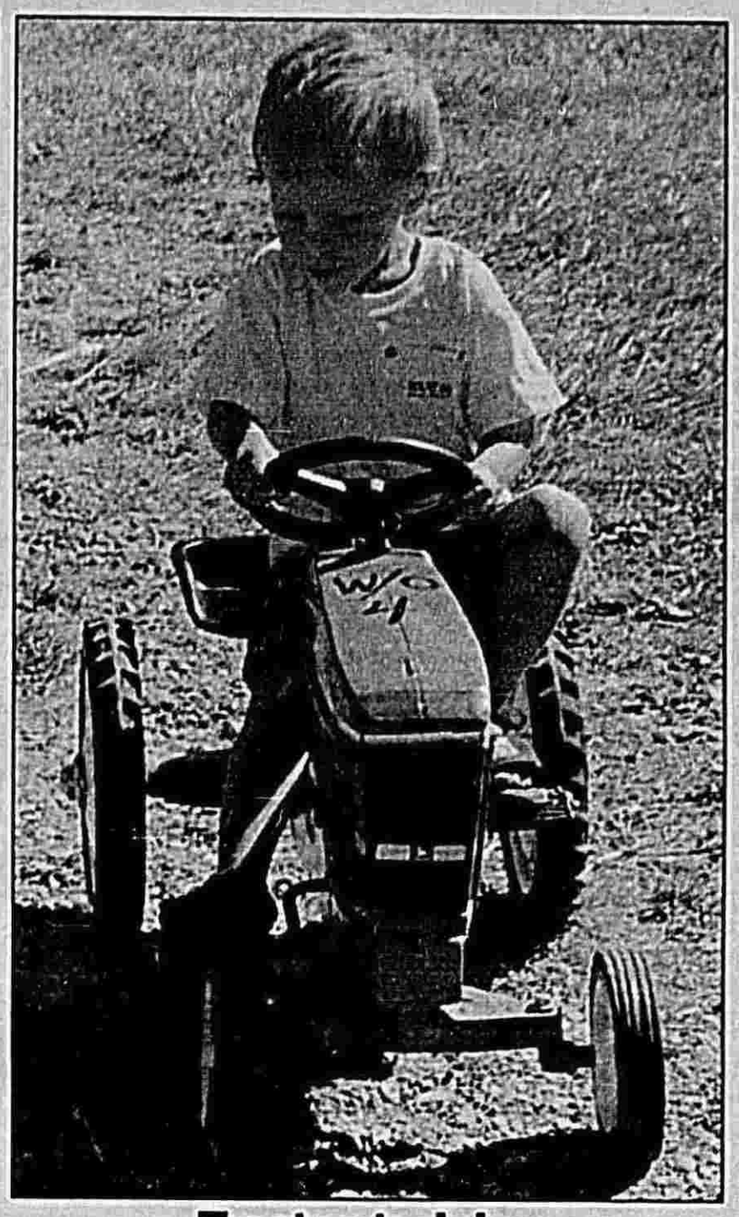

Round Lake—Two Round Lake residents have created their own television talk show to premiere on AT&T Cable.

Hosted by Bob Powers and Bish Krywko, RLUpClose is 30-minute look at everything Round Lake.

The show will focus on Round Lake issues and give viewers the opportunity to see and hear from various public officials from the area. RLUpClose will also have episodes highlighting other community leaders and general human interest stories.

The show will also look at one of Lake County's hottest issues—the site of the proposed multi-university center. Future guests will include Lakehurst Mall owner Martin Touhy and Lake County Board member Larry Leafblad.

RLUpClose begins Monday, Sept. 20 at 9:30 p.m. on AT&T Cable Services channel 38. It will air the same time each week, and re-run on Wednesdays at 8 p.m.

Wadsworth man pleads guilty

Wadsworth—A Wadsworth man plead guilty on Sept. 10 to one count of criminal sexual assault for molesting a 14-year-old female relative June 1998 while she was vacationing at his home.

James P. Leonhardt, 41, of Cashmore Road, told Lake County Judge John Phillips pleading guilty was "the best thing for myself."

Leonhardt molested the juvenile, a resident of Winnebago County, Illinois, near his outdoor pool. He touched the girl's genitals underneath her clothing while supposedly teaching her about "the birds and the bees," said Detective Rick White of the Lake County Children's Advocacy Center.

Leonhardt will not serve any prison time, as part of his plea agreement with the state. He can, however, be sentenced for up to four years of work-release and intensive probation with mandatory sex-offender treatment. Leonhardt will be sentenced Oct. 22.

Race to benefit breast cancer research

Fox Lake—Fox Lake's first Mayor's Challenge Run to benefit breast cancer research is off to a strong start.

"We are getting a tremendous amount of response. I am learning of a lot of people in the community who are impacted by breast cancer. Both men and women are impacted. They could be your neighbors, business people, people you know," Kim Majewski, administrative assistant, said.

The event is Sept. 25. Sign-up begins at 7 a.m. Proceeds will go toward the Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation.

A 5K run or walk will be offered. For the serious runners, there will be professionally-run event. About 50-60 runners and walkers have already signed up.

Man charged with sexual assault

Lincolnshire—On Sept. 8 at 8:30 a.m., officers from the Highland Park and Lincolnshire Police Departments served an arrest warrant on Kenneth B. Kritt, 39, of 58 Lincolnshire Dr. in Lincolnshire, at his residence. Kritt was charged with three counts of predatory criminal sexual assault of a child. At the same time, a search warrant was also executed on Kritt's residence.

Kritt allegedly assaulted an 11-year-old boy at his residence in Lincolnshire. He is currently being held in the Lake County Jail in Waukegan on a $250,000 bond.

The Lincolnshire Police Department is requesting anyone who has any additional information regarding Kritt to call Investigator Greg Duffey at 883-9900.

Financial group acquired

Wauconda—Officials at Grand Premier Financial do not expect many changes at the local level after a buyout of its stock by a Grand Rapids, Mich. firm.

Old Kent Financial of Grand Rapids, Mich. made its second acquisition of a Chicago area financial institution official on Sept. 10 in a reported $394 million stock purchase. A six month approval process with regulatory agencies will follow. Meanwhile, shares of the Wauconda firm which has offices west to Rockford and several in Lake County, were up 75 cents, while Kent dropped by 44 cents on the Dow Jones.

Grand Premier Financial has served the suburbs in various forms for 60 years. It has 600 employees with branches in Cary, Crete, Crystal Lake, DeKalb, Dixon, Freeport, Island Lake, Wauconda, Waukegan, Sterling and Woodstock, among others.

Grand Premier had reported earnings of $213.1 million and assets of $15.2 million.

Victory Lakes, library discuss funding

Lake Villa—"Who pays what?" has been the ongoing discussion between Victory Lakes Surgical and Treatment Center and the Lake Villa District Library.

Victory Lakes and the Village Library have had conflicting views regarding how much each party is reponsible for paying towards the costs of intersection work at Rt. 132 and Deep Lake Rd.

The Lake Villa District Library met with the Victory Lakes committee to demonstrate why, according to library board members, they were asked to pay too much.

The Library is the last party to pay their dues. The Library board made a motion on Sept. 13 to pay Victory Lakes the number they configured, $9,450.verses the 20,000 Victory Lakes wanted them to pay.. The number was figured by looking at what would have been done whether Victory Lakes Center was built at the intersection or not, what work has to be done for the Library to funtion properly, and what the library board expects to be compensated for.

Muddy water caused by large carp

Lindenhurst—Lindenhurst's Waterford and Potomac lakes have become muddy with a water clarity of only 16 inches.

The reason for this problem is an overpopulation of Carp. The lakes are very shallow and eutrophic (very fertile). "Shallow lakes have a problem with carp out competing native game fish" said Bill Roesler, Lakes Commissioner for the Village of Lindenhurst.

On Sept. 30 and Oct. 1 the water should be cold enough, approximately 50 degrees, for state biologists to come and perform a two-day project which will safely get rid of problem fish without harming any other forms of plant or animal.

A pesticide will be used which kills fish in the way that insecticides kill insects.

Although the pesticide, which is an organic compound called Rotoenon, is not harmful to other life, it will not be recommended that people eat fish caught in the lake.

The entire fish population of the two lakes will not be destroyed. 630 Adult Bass and Blue Gill were rescued from the lake and taken to a different site. When the water is safe for fish again, a month after the state biologists have completed their project, the rescued fish will be returned to their native lakes.

County take over nips township value

F.T. "Mike" Graham, the intrepid supervisor of Libertyville Township, apparently is the only official to see the county's willingness to relieve townships of liability and billing functions related to Winchester House for what it is: another chip away at the need and purpose of township goverment.

Acting in the face of complaints from a group of supervisors that an agreement with the county for covering deficits, billing and collecting for the county nursing home in Libertyville has outgrown its usefulness, Lake County fielded a proposal for future operations that effectively reduces township involvement to a resident referral service.

Warren Township Supervisor Sue Simpson, already on record to drop out of the standard contract, expressed fear that townships always face the danger of paying for Winchester errancies. The county, in fact, has an unblemished record of operating Winchester without a deficit since 1982 when voters approved a 2.5 percent tax increase for the nursing home. Winchester House enjoys a national reputation as a model facility.

Graham, the survivor of many political wars, battles and skirmishes, says supervisors have made a mountain out of a molehill. Graham acknowledged that sometimes townships are pinched at the length of time it takes to approve public aid and difficulties involved when a resident or family refuses to reimburse the township for care of a resident at Winchester. Townships can protect themselves by careful documentation and resorting to property liens, in Graham's view. In defense of her position, Simpson said Warren Township is in court to collect $42,000 in non-payments. Waukegan Supervisor Patricia Jones agreed that collecting is an on-going problem.

A strong point is made by Supervisor Graham that townships can handle billing more efficiently while at the same time solving problems "close to home." Indeed, that is one of the arguments advanced when the question arises as to the usefulness of township government— its closeness and availability to citizens. Winchester's excellent record rests on the good partnership between the county and the townships, Graham believes.

County Board Chairman Jim LaBelle is an advocate for the county taking "full responsibility" for Winchester House. All that is needed to make the change is approval by a majority vote of the 23 County Board representatives.

If the county takes over, there is only one question remaining. With the supervisors no longer billing and collecting for Winchester House, what will be the next proposal to lighten a work load already light in the eyes of detractors of township government?

Airport land buy to benefit economy

Since it has been no secret for 20 years that Waukegan Regional Airport has had to expand, we hope negotiations go smoothly for the purchase of 27 acres from the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist. to expand a runway.

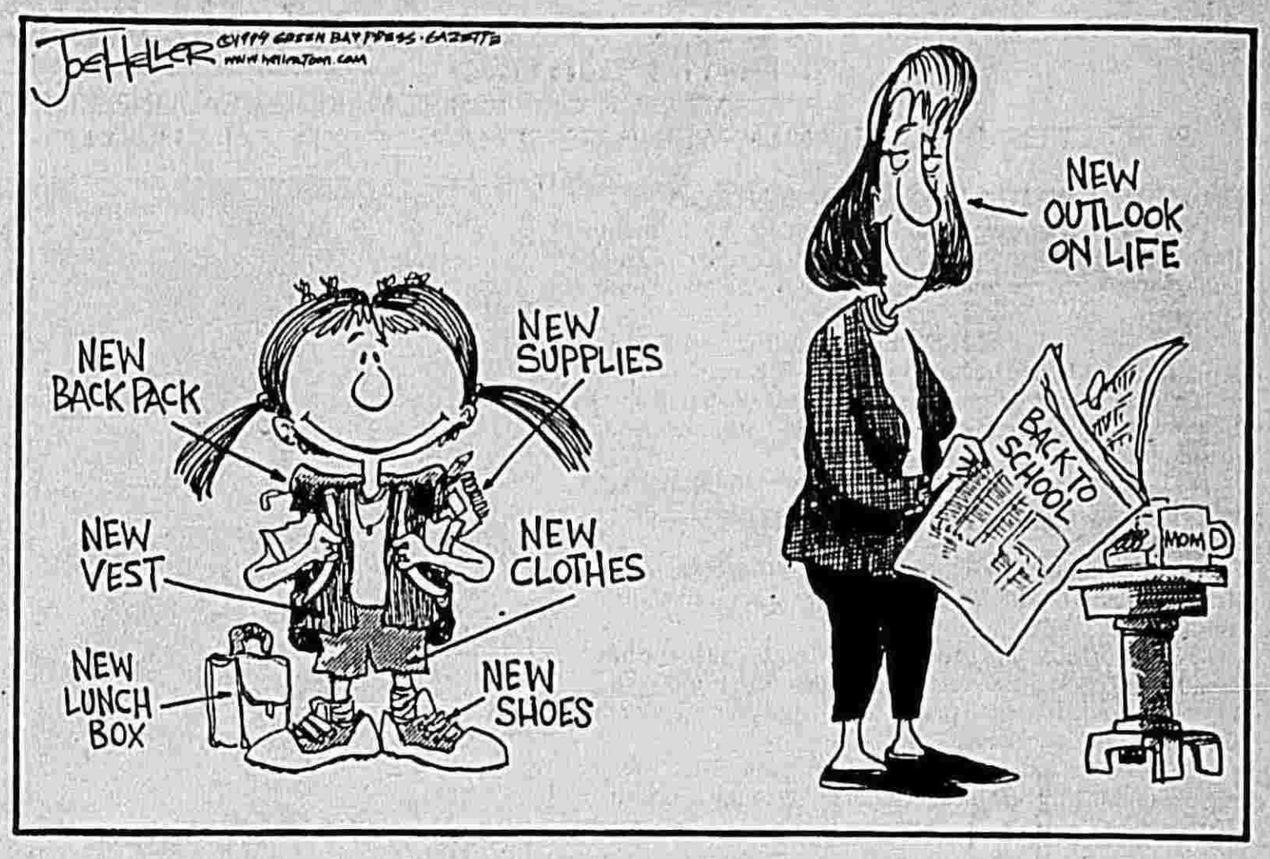

The full-service airport, operated by the Waukegan Port Authority, is a boom to the local economy, providing a base for a number of Fortune 500 companies utilizing industrial air travel, high tech local employment and a future home for two U.S. Coast Guard air-rescue helicopters.

Much-needed additional space will be used for installation of an instrument landing system on the 6,000-foot Runway 5 and rerouting of takeoffs that will result in quieter operations for the neighboring residential area. The port authority has a long-standing policy of acquiring homes in the fight path and will continue to do so even with the proposed acquisition of forest preserve land.

Walter Jones, executive director of the port authority, predicts a surge of new business if the runway is expanded. For the sake of improved safety and economic growth, officials should cooperate to give the greenlight for airport expansion. Making 27 acres of public property available for improved regional transportation strikes us as sensible use of land already in the public sector.

Navy Day honors neighbors

Every year, early in September, the City of North Chicago celebrates Navy Day to foster good relations with Great Lakes Naval Training Center. There are award presentations, a parade and a football game, the Blue Jacket Classic. To add a distinct county-wide flavor to the observance, one of the county teams is selected to take on the host Warhawks on the football field. This year it was Antioch. Rear Adm. Edward E. Hunter, Great Lakes commander, spelled out what good neighborliness means to the Navy— "a sense of home" for the 60,000 young men and women who learn how to be sailors every year. North Chicago Mayor Jerry Johnson responded with the observation that "every day should be Navy Day." Indeed. There should be no argument to that sentiment.

VIEWPOINT

Parking needs drive school costs

BILL SCHROEDER
Publisher

When I was a kid, getting to school was no big deal.

At grade school, everyone walked, except one girl. She lived on the north side of town. Kind of a swell. Her dad drove her to school every morning and picked her up in the afternoon.

At high school, 11 kids had cars. I remember counting them one time. The cars fit neatly on a side street parallel to the gym. Our school didn't even have a parking lot. The kids with cars came from "far away" places like Prairie View, Diamond Lake and Long Grove. Other than walking, I don't recall how the others got to school. Maybe carpooling or hitchhiking. A couple of kids from Grayslake would take the train once in awhile.

Today, it's different. All the students have cars. Or so it seems. Parking is a HUGE deal. There are parking aides and parking supervisors, parking fees and parking police. Formulating parking regulations is as important as designing the curriculum.

Typical high school parking lots are the size of medium-sized airport runways or regional shopping malls. The Wauconda High parking lot is as big as K-mart. Menard's executives drool over the parking lot at Mundelein High School. Parking fees assessed Grant High students go to defray police liaison expenses. Antioch will put the finishing touches on a multi-million dollar expansion by creating 100 more parking spaces before the snow flies.

The media had a field day when it was discovered Barrington parents bought an old house near the high school for their son's parking convenience. Grayslake parents howled to heaven when the village board hiked parking fines to $25 to discourage student parking on nearby streets during a construction period.

Taxpayers would go into shock if they knew the true cost of providing parking for student drivers. There is land cost, paving, lighting, snowplowing and maintenance. Administration. "Ideal" high school campuses are supposed to contain from 40 to 50 acres or more. About 20 percent of that space is given over to driveways, sidewalks and parking lots.

Collins covered

Lake County's Republican high command heaved a collective sigh of relief when Bob Collins, WGN super personality, signed a multi-million contract a few weeks ago, insuring that he'll be doing his popular morning broadcast well into the new millennium. The Libertyville resident has been generous with his time as MC at GOP events, providing lively patter and a high profile persona to hype attendance.

Oaks threatened

If an outbreak of Dutch elm disease wasn't enough, now there's word of a malady that can kill a mighty oak in a short time. Oak wilt is the culprit. We're told that there's no known cure. Just cutting down and burning on the spot. Red oaks, most common in this locality, are especially susceptible.

NIU celebration

Observance of the 100th anniversary of Northern Illinois University is in full sway at the DeKalb campus. A replica one-room school house mindful of the school's rural roots was dedicated last Sunday, Sept. 12, the date in 1899 when the former Normal school opened for classes. Celebrations for Husky alumni will peak with the homecoming football game Oct. 9.

Hail the leaders

Jim Hotham, Mr. Lake County Navy League and a retired banker, was among the Leadership Award recipients at 1999 Navy Day last weekend. Hotham, a Naval aviator during World War II, works tirelessly to promote good relations between the county and the Navy. Petty Officer Adolphus Washington, a career sailor, was cited as an example of how active duty military personnel are involved in their community through volunteerism and commitment. The Diesel engine instructor is a native of Florida.

GUEST COMMENTARY

Rickey, learn to be a man

By Anonymous

Everyone makes mistakes. With mistakes, come consequences.

For Rickey Higgins to try to sue to recover the privilege of being allowed to participate in high school athletics at Warren Township High School is a travesty.

First, Rickey claims he is an alcoholic. Alcoholics receive DUIs, lose jobs, families and lives, every day. They are not able to go to court and claim their alcoholism as a defense of their actions, nor do they use the disease to try to get sympathy from the public.

Alcoholics don't get their driving privileges back, just for wising up and attending a rehabilitation program and going to Alcoholics Anonymous meetings for a few months. They don't get their family, and many times, don't get their life back.

As a member of AA with many 24 hours under my belt, I also find it offensive that Higgins' lawyer would recommend him to put AA into the public eye in an attempt for a sympathetic appeal. One of the foundations of AA is anonymity. One of the reasons why, is because, and hopefully he won't, Rickey decides to drink again, all of the other

PARTY LINES

PARTY LINES, THE LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS' COLUMN OF POLITICAL OPINION, IS PREPARED FROM STAFF REPORTS.

Ryan: Will give roadmap on how GOP can retake the Whitehouse

Adams: Likes to plan in advance for political announcements

Thomas: Former Bear hopes to kick the competition in Supreme Court bid

Ryan brings verve to GOP breakfast

Second term Illinois Atty. General Jim Ryan is keynoting the 37th annual meeting of the Lake County Republican Federation.

Always a Saturday morning breakfast meeting, the 1999 event will return to Deerpath Inn, Lake Forest at 8:30 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 18. A DuPage County resident, Ryan has icon status for surmounting personal and family adversities besides being regarded as one of the top AGs in the nation.

Ryan aims to impart some strategies on how Illinois Republicans can help regain the White House in 2000.

Second time around

Mayor Tom Adams of Green Oaks is leaving no doubt that he's prepared to battle all-out a second time for a state senate seat from the east county district now held by State Sen. Terry Link (D-Vernon Hills). Adams vowed a fighting campaign Thursday night, Sept. 16 at a rally at Lambs Farm. The 30th District seat held by Link is regarded as a GOP target. Adams is out to dispel the belief that a distaff Republican would make a better foe for Link.

Living legend

State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) relishes her new moniker, "the Unchanged Legend," conceived by supporters to depict her indefatigable style. Geo is promising a champagne toast to long life and GOP victories at a reception Thursday, Sept. 23 at Holiday Inn, Gurnee. The long-time legislator has timed the event 100 days to the millennium.

Retirement rhetoric

Opponents and worry warts have been advised to check first with State Sen. Cal Skinner (R-Crystal Lake) about retirement rumors. Because he values his independence, Skinner, 57, always is viewed warily by Republican hardliners. Clear GOP thinkers are pointing out that back-biting Skinner will only lead to an expansion of the Democratic beachhead established with the victory in 1998 of State Rep. Jack Franks (D-Wonder Lake).

A real kicker

Bob Thomas is "kicking" off his campaign for Illinois Supreme Court Justice.

The former Chicago Bears place kicker, who now lives in Wheaton, announced this week that he will be a candidate for the State Supreme Court's 2nd District on the Republican ticket.

While playing for the Bears, Thomas attended Loyola University School of Law at night and during the off-season, passed the bar exam in 1981.

He practiced law for seven years, and then ran and was elected to the Circuit Court of the Eighteenth Judicial Circuit. He has served six years as a Circuit Court Judge and four years as an appellate Court Judge in DuPage County.

On the football field, Thomas had the pressure of making big kicks in big games. It's something that he believes helps him in making tough decisions in the courtroom.

"I'm proud of my decade with the Chicago Bears. I can see some carryover benefit from having faced the pressures of being an NFL kicker to my current position facing the pressure related to deciding important cases," he said.

Way advanced notice

The Lakeland Newspapers news room received a five month ahead of time notice from Tom Adams. The assignment note, for "assignment editors, photo desks and politicial reporters," stated Adams plans to make "an important announcement concerning the future of the 30th Illinois Senate District Wednesday, FEBRUARY 15, at 1:30 p.m. at the Lake County Courthouse Lobby. Hope everyone has a 2000 calendar that is Y2K compatible and protected so the date isn't lost on New Year's Eve.

Imagine a lifetime without working

THE PFARR CORNER
Jerry Pfarr

Greg Maddux, as almost everyone knows, is a 33-year-old pitcher for baseball's Atlanta Braves, and so good at it he is paid $10.6 million a year.

Maddux is a quiet, likable, almost nerdy guy who would seem more at home in a library than a ballpark. He spent seven seasons with our beloved but pathetic Chicago Cubs and was terrific then, too. But in 1993, in a contract snafu, the Cubs let him escape to Atlanta where he has established himself as a Hall of Fame shoo-in.

On the days he pitches, Cub fans naturally pay attention, bemoan what might have been and eat their hearts out.

My interest was particularly piqued the other day when, while cleaning out my cluttered office, I came across a newspaper clipping from 1988, when Maddux was a mere up-and-coming 22-year-old.

It was one of those personality profiles in which the person completes an already begun question. Following are some of the questions and Maddux's replies 11 years ago. (My comments are in parentheses.)

Marital status . . . Single.

Home ... Apartment in Chicago, house in Las Vegas (where he was an all-state pitcher in high school).

Most treasured athletic moment ... Pitching against my older brother, Mike, on Sept. 29, 1986. (The Cubs beat journeyman pitcher Mike's Philadelphia Phillies 8-3.)

Career goals after baseball ... That I won't have to work after I'm finished playing. (Well, that's in the bank.)

Ideal woman ... 5-6, blond hair and blue eyes. (That would be his then-fiancee, Kathy, with whom he is now married and has a daughter, Amanda Paige.)

Childhood heroes . . . Pete Rose and my brother, Mike.

Current hero . . . My brother, Mike.

Celebrity friends . . . Rick Sutcliffe and Andre Dawson.

Favorite TV show . . . "Knots Landing."

Favorite food . . . Wendy's. (Today he could buy a chain of Wendy's.)

To relax . . . I go golfing or fishing. (Now he could buy a few golf courses and lakes.)

Smartest thing I've ever done . . . I didn't go to college, I signed a professional baseball contract right out of high school.

Worst advice I've received . . . My high school chemistry teacher told me his class was more important than baseball.

If I ever owned the Cubs . . . I would pay the players more money.

If I could be another person I'd be . . . My brother Mike.

Best thing about being a Cub . . . Playing for the great Chicago fans.

Worst thing about being a Cub . . . Having to deal with all the media because things are so blown out of proportion here as compared to other places.

I hope I never have to . . . Get a real job. (Done!)

Most of our major-league sports stars become multimillionaires nowadays, playing games they otherwise would gladly play just for the fun of it.

We don't begrudge them their fair share of the big bucks because they are the show, and getting there does require tremendous talent and torturous training.

And as another former Cub, Ryne Sandberg, said when he decided it was time to retire and walked away from an additional $21 million:

"You can't spend it all anyway."

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Enforce violence laws

In reference to the letter by Michael Bedke (Chair, ABA, Commission on Domestic Violence) . . . I found myself moved little by the statistics and views of Mr. Bedke. His words may shock some people, however, to a seasoned person; such as myself, his words are merely wasted ink on paper. As the expression goes, different day, same thing.

For years, I have heard about the laws being changed to persecute those who commit such heinous acts of violence on the "one they love". Those who have dealt with protection orders will tell you that just because the order is enforceable, doesn't mean it is always enforced. I hear so much about enforcement and prosecution against the abuser, yet little about help for the abused. Why do so many abused return to their abuser? . . . Lack of education . . . lack of funds . . . lack of self esteem . . . for the kids sake . . . roof over their head . . . said it wouldn't happen again (and again and again) . . . Believe it or not, that four letter "L" word brings back most abused. The abused crave to be loved. The cycle needs to be broken.

The same amount of effort needs to be used on helping the abused as well as prosecuting the abuser. The abused and abuser both need intense counseling to break the chain that keeps them on their "merry-go-round" of one abusive relationship after another. Most abused feel alone and isolated, therefore, few seek help. They need to be informed more of services, shelters, therapy, and that they are not alone in their plight to live in peace.

The next time you write, Mr. Bedke, open our eyes as to what is going on to help the abused, not about persecuting the abuser.

RICKEY: Learn, don't run from your mistakes

students at Warren and other high schools throughout the county who heard about his "story," may think, why should I seek help or try AA. See, it didn't work for Rickey, so that program doesn't work.

AA does work. For hundreds, even thousands of people from dozens of countries throughout the world. It works for many young people who are fortunate to have their problem discovered early in life.

Another foundation for AA is the ability of the person to accept responsibility for his or her actions, and to accept the consequences. If the main reason behind Rickey's attending the meetings is to try and get back on the basketball team, what happens to Rickey if that does not happen. Is it going to be an excuse to drink again and say AA didn't work?

An aspect for us "old timers" of AA is a recommendation to newcomers to attend 90 meetings in 90 days. With school work, plus working out for basketball, when is Rickey going to have time to do this?

According to reports, Rickey is attending a NICASA program two evenings per week. What happens when practice starts?

For those of us fortunate enough to be in recovery, the commitment to AA and its success is number one. Above family, work, school, and yes, sports. Granted, the AA program is based upon suggestions. As one who has seen it work, I ask Rickey to take a long look inside himself and see if he is being honest with Rickey about what his real focus is.

For Rickey, I appeal to him to accept the facts of his actions. Missing out on having the privilege of being able to play a senior season of basketball, and I stress privilege and play, is a small price to pay for having his life given back to him by going through the experience which has put him into the situation to begin with.

Take the time you would spend at basketball practice and playing games and spend it on putting your life together so you can go on to college and have a successful career.

Remember the promises contained within the AA steps and traditions, along with The Big Book. They come to us sometimes quickly, sometimes slowly. But they always materialize, IF WE WORK FOR THEM.

To Rickey H., may God Bless You and keep working at the program, one day at a time.

'A Night on the Nile' will benefit County museum

Dance and dine the night away in support of exciting new exhibits being created for the Lake County Museum. Join the Friends of the Lake County Museum for "A Night on the Nile" fundraising gala on Saturday, Sept. 18 at 6 p.m. at the Lake County Museum. The gala is sponsored by the Friends of the Lake County Museum and Ameritech.

During this special evening, guests will enjoy a jazzy cocktail reception featuring the Andy Margolis Trio and delight in the treasures of the food oases as they dine under the Egyptian sky. The sweet sounds of the Moonlighters will offer guests a chance to dance along the river Nile before aiming their sights on the spectacular items offered in the silent and live auctions. A tasty Egyptian brew created especially for "A Night on the Nile" guests by Mickey Finn's of Libertyville will make its debut at the gala event. A special belly-dancing performance is also planned.

Guests will get a sneak preview of the Lake County Museum's new interactive, state-of-the-art exhibitions, the Mall of History and Brining the World Home, scheduled to be unveiled in spring 2000. Proceeds from "A Night on the Nile" gala will benefit the $2.2 million new exhibits projects.

The Lake County Museum galleries will be magically transformed for this Egyptian-themed evening. Masks made by local children and murals of Egyptian sites from the Museum's renown collection will grace the Museum walls. Palm trees, sculptures, and imported fabric will add the traditional Egyptian flare.

Items featured in the silent and live auctions have been gathered from around the world and include pieces from Egypt brought in especially for the gala. Other items include travel packages, fine art, dining, sporting event and theater tickets, rare wine, a tall-ship sailing adventure and golf packages to some of the area's finest golf courses.

As part of the fundraising effort, the Friends of the Lake County Museum are also sponsoring "Splendors of Ancient Egypt," an 11-day trip to the land of the Nile, from March 17 to 28, 2000. This exclusively designed museum tour features the Pyramids, mosques and bazaars of Cairo, five nights of sailing on the Nile, and a trip to Luxor and the Valley of the Kinds. The cost is $2,995 per person. A round trip package for two to the "Splendors of Ancient Egypt" museum tour, Courtesy of Seven Wonders Travel and Egypt Air, will be raffled at the gala event.

Tickets for "A Night on the Nile" fundraising gala are $100 per person. To purchase gala or raffle tickets in advance or for more information about the fundraising gala, call Mary Ellen Mason, communications and development coordinator at 526-7878.

The Lake County Museum is located in the Lakewood Forest Preserve on Route 176 between Libertyville and Barrington. A nationally accredited museum, the Lake County Museum is one of Lake County's top 10 attractions.

MINDING YOUR OWN BUSINESS

Don Taylor

More room for a few mavericks

Brock was just a little different. Twice he had left the corporate rat race world to start his own business. And, twice he'd returned to the security of working for someone else after experiencing less than glowing success as an entrepreneur.

I first met Brock in 1970. He was bright, talented, well educated and different. We worked together in the sales department of a small but rapidly growing company. The family that owned the company had begun tightening policies to maintain some control over the expansion. Brock was beginning to feel stifled.

Brock told me he was going to leave the company. He was once again fed up with the inflexibility of organizations. He wanted freedom to try new things, to innovate and to have a stake in the outcome of his own efforts.

Within months, he was gone. This time, he started a company with the right mix of capital, opportunity and people. This start up was a success and Brock still runs the company today.

While they don't have great success climbing the corporate ladder, mavericks like Brock have played an important role in the strong growth of our nation's economy. Brock, and tens of thousands of maverick entrepreneurs like him created more jobs in the 1990's than all of the Fortune 500 companies combined.

Mavericks change the cycle

Let me give you a new take on an old theory regarding the cycle of business. We've been taught for years about the traditional business cycle. A business begins in the start-up phase, progresses on to rapid growth, continues to maturity and then enters into decline.

My new business model has only three stages. Maverick, momentum and mediocrity. Mavericks start small, entrepreneurial businesses. If they are well-planned and managed they develop momentum and grow. These businesses continue to grow until they become mediocre. Then they slow down and gradually fade away.

There is a cure for the mediocre phase. It is a good dose of mavericks. Yes, mavericks can help a company regain its vitality, zeal and vision. Mavericks can pump new life into aging, inflexible organizations. Mavericks can send a company back into the momentum building phase with a good dose of creativity and enthusiasm.

Managing Mavericks

•Mavericks bring new ideas. Perhaps nothing stirs the innovation process as quickly and thoroughly as new ideas. You can spot mavericks by their creativity. New thoughts bubble up as from a spring. Of course, not all new ideas are good ideas so a little mentoring and encouraging is involved.

•Mavericks make a difference. The difference between mavericks and certified fruitcakes is that the mavericks will work within the confines of the system as long as they are making a difference. They earn the right to be different by working toward the goals of the company, but if there are no company goals, the mavericks will set their own.

•Mavericks need some running room. If they have to be on the cor-

Die firm gets state loan for Lake Zurich HQ

Progressive Manufacturing Corporation's new 136,715 square foot manufacturing/warehouse headquarters, 1275 Ensell Road, Lake Zurich is under construction.

Illinois State Treasurer Judy Baar Topinka announced that Progressive Manufacturing Corp. Will receive a $4.5 million dollar low-interest loan to help the new facility. Part of the State Treasurer's Economic Program (STEP), the low-interest loan provides Illinois companies access to affordable capital to expand their operations and retain or create jobs in the state.

STEP was created to encourage economic development and extension of businesses in Illinois. Under the provisions of STEP, for each permanent full-time job that is created or retained, $25,000 can be deposited into the borrower's financial institution at well-below market rates. The institution will then lend the money at below prevailing interest rates to the borrower. The terms of the loan are for one year and may be renegotiated for an additional year.

Founded in 1982 by the Osterhues family, privately owned Progressive Manufacturing Corporation is a metal fabrication company with over 100 employees. Progressive Manufacturing designs and builds progressive dies used to produce metal stampings in addition to assembly, sub-assembly, short run production, and eco-friendly powder coating. the firm is expanding its services to include more contract manufacturing which includes automation equipment and punch presses.

The new facility will include a 43,800-square-foot warehouse and a 55,000-square-foot plant as well as 17,171-square-feet of office space with a 13,675-square-foot mezzanine. Features of the precast structure will include two 50' by 10' concrete screen walls, a punched window system and clear story windows, a 15' by 55' canopy over the recyclable area, exterior truck docks, levelers and seals, grade level truck and van entrances, and parking for 270 vehicles. Amenities of the warehouse will include a tool room, oil storage room, compressor room and shipping office.

For more information regarding STEP, please contact State Treasurer Judy Baar Topinka's office at (312)814-1700.

Johnson Wax first tenant in new corporate park

Prism, a division of S.C. Johnson Wax Co., will occupy 30,000 square feet of the 50,000 square foot build-to-site-building in Corporate Ridge, a new 320-acre business park in the stateline area.

Prism Senior Vice President Ian McIlwraith said they chose the Corporate Ridge site because the location's access to the Interstate was conducive to suppliers. The park is near Rte. 12, Genoa City, Wis.

Other outstanding features the park offers include high visibility, low Alliant Energy electric rates, low taxes, affordable land costs and access to labor from both states. Corporate Ridge is included in a Tax-Incremental Finance District, thereby offering competitive land prices for municipal water and sewer sites.

Prime Commercial developed McHenry Center, a 276-acre park that is nearly fully developed. The covenants for Corporate Ridge will mirror those of McHenry Corporate Center.

Boomers to air job fears

Despite evidence that American industry needs the talents and experiences of the Baby Boom generation, older workers are increasingly finding themselves being pushed out of their jobs.

State Rep. Lauren Beth Gash (D-Highland Park) will hold a public forum on Thursday, September 23 at the Deerfield Public Library from 7-9 p.m. to hear from her constituents on the subject.

On November 16, an additional forum for Illinois and surrounding-state employers on this topic, sponsored by the University of Illinois School of Public Health and the Department of Aging, will be held at the Thompson Center, Chicago.

"It makes no sense that companies should thoughtlessly encourage 45 and 50 year olds to go out to pasture at a time when there are inadequate numbers of younger workers to take their places and when so many "older" workers are at the height of their creativity and productivity," said Gash.

Gash appointed former State Rep. Bruce Douglas to head up a task force out of her office on the needs of Older Workers.

Douglas and others have found strong evidence that, in his words, "a counterproductive and thoughtless movement remains afoot in American industry that continues to encourage the baby boomers to retire at the very time they are needed to hold down jobs that fit their skills and for which there are no viable replacement workers."

Lake County experiment ended by Treasure Island

Call it Chicago Slick. Or Windy City Stych. Or big city upscale.

Whatever. Treasure Island, a complete supermarket catering to upper income families, with a long Chicago history, just couldn't make it in Lake County.

The well-known supermarket's first venture in outer suburbia, an attractive facility in Carriage Way Center, Lake Bluff, will lock up at the close of business Sunday, Sept. 26.

The reason? "Lack of business," stated Manager Jerry Riordan.

Treasure Island has five stores in Chicago and one in Wilmette.

A nine-year experiment in Lake County was declared a failure by Treasure Island management in the face of withering competition, mostly from Dominick's and Sunset Foods, a North Shore byword for homemakers for a half century.

Dominick's immediately stepped up to acquire the space and will open at the location in early 2000 after extensive remodeling. The new Lake Bluff location will have the Fresh Stores theme already established in Bannockburn and Highland Park.

Credit union hit $100 million mark

Community Trust Credit Union, with officers in Gurnee and Grayslake, has surpassed the $100 million asset mark.

Community Trust Credit Union, formerly Warren Credit Union, began in 1933 in a basement out of the need to help the local community enduring the hard times of the Great Depression. Warren Credit Union became Warren-Newport credit Union as it expanded its charter to include Newport Township. When the charter expanded again to include Avon Township, instead of adding yet another name to the title, "We chose a name which better represented our presence in the community — we decided on 'Community Trust Credit Union,'" said President John Bratsakis, Jr.

Community Trust Credit Union serves more than 14,500 members.

James opens natural site subdivision

Oak Grove Associates, one of The James Companies, has opened three models at Oak Grove, the company's third environmentally enhanced subdivision in Wauconda.

Besides serving as a showcase for a portfolio of 11 semi-custom home designs, the models are also designed to focus attention on the community's 13.2 acres of natural preserves.

TAYLOR: Let mavericks enliven your company

porate leash, make a long one. Let them accomplish their work in whatever way and timeframe fits them. Keep them focused on the results, and let them discover the ways and means that best accomplish the desired results. You should set the general direction and turn them loose.

•Give them ownership. Deep down inside every maverick wants to own the company. Give them control over their area. Let them make decisions. Keep a watchful eye from a distance. Let them grow with only your general nurturing.

•Don't tell them what can or can't be done. Henry Ford built his empire with men that didn't know it couldn't be done. Mavericks will do something. If not for you, then for themselves.

New women's group to tackle money issues

Women need to watch their money.

Is the underlying theme of the first meeting for fall of the Lake Cook Chapter of Women in Managing, a support organization for professional women.

The meeting on Wednesday, Sept. 29, begins with breakfast at 7:30 a.m. at Holiday Inn Mundelein.

Reservations are $12 for members and $15 for non-members and can be made by calling 295-4768 by Wednesday, Sept. 22, for fax to 295-7337.

Organized last April, the chapter of the nationally affiliated organization has grown to more than 20 members.

The networking organization provides the businesswomen an opportunity to relate experiences, exchange ideas and promote self-growth.

The money management meeting will feature three speakers on the topic, "Financial Strategies for Today's Woman."

Two journalists sparked establishment of the chapter, Cassie Wagner, president, and Chris Lumber. Both are employed by the Business Journal.

Trisha Trackman, Trisha's Salon, president-elect; Audrey Standeven of Remedy Intelligent Staffing, secretary; and Joann Sabath of First Chicago, treasurer.

Other charter members are Lois Long of Illinois Department of Employment Security; Jan Bednarz of Bednarz Communications; Marian Rodriguez of Holiday Inn Mundelein; Karen Wells of AFLAC; Camille Diotallevi; Shirley Friedlander of Office Center, Susan Malo of Rotter Agency; Bryna Mollinger of Chase Manhattan Mortgage Corp.; Maribeth Kuzmeski of MK Marketing Group; Patricia Hupke of Hi Point Promotions Inc.; Donna Sanders of Focus Design Group; Janet Marks of Excel Communications; Debbie Larker of Courtesy Graphics Inc.; Yvonne Decker of The Signature Image; and Mary Ellen Mason of the Lake County Museum.

New members are Michelle Hippler of Kral Goodenough Kral, Linda Wegge Slipke of ATC Wegge Ltd. and Jennifer Naughton of Arial Equipment Inc.

To become a member of the Lake Cook Chapter of WIM, call 295-7333. The membership fee is $100, plus a one-time application fee of $20. The Lake Cook Chapter meets at 7:30 a.m. on the last Wednesday of each month at Holiday Inn Mundelein.

Secretary of State Jesse White talks with Fox Waterway Agency Director Wayne Blake about upcoming improvements during a visit and tour of the Chain of Lakes.—Photo by Sandy Bressner from the state.

Some of the projects the agency hopes to undertake if additional state dollars become available include the purchase of new dredging equipment and sites for disposal of dredging materials from the waterway; capital improvements to agency buildings including the creation of a tourism center serving Lake and McHenry counties; and more money for the agency's shoreline stabilization and conservation efforts.

"We feel we'll give you a $1 return for each $1 that's invested," said Dam. "In fact, we think we've given far more than a $1 return."

Several area state legislators joined White on the tour including Sen. William Peterson (R-Prairie View), State Rep. Tim Osmond (R-Antioch) and State Rep. Jack Franks (D-Woodstock).

"Our agency lives and dies on the support and goodwill of the public and our state officials and legislators and we want to show them we are doing a good job and our efforts are worthwhile," said Dam, in explaining the purpose of the tour.

The tour included a little bit of history about the Chain O' Lakes, including a brief stop near the historic Mineola Hotel. Built around the turn of the century, it is the only major hotel remaining on the Chain.

As part of the tour, White's entourage also got a chance to view one of the agency's more recent and unique projects—the geotube near Grass Island. The geotube project is intended to recreate a small wetlands island which has been lost over time due to erosion and to form a protective cove around Grass Island. It is hoped the area will serve as a nesting ground for several endangered species of birds.

"Nobody's ever created a wetland island of this type in the United States," Dam said.

Dam said the project is just one of the environmental efforts the agency is undertaking. The agency's water quality efforts have been instrumental in improving water quality, and may be contributing to the return of native waterway plants, such as the lotus pads on Grass Lake, he said.

Although White has visited the area before, he said the tour gave him a better perspective of the size of the Chain O" Lakes and what the Fox Waterway Agency is trying to accomplish.

"I have an appreciation of the out of doors," he said. "I enjoy boating, swimming and fishing. With that in mind, I have to be impressed with the size and beauty of this area, and it only makes sense to support the people who are providing service and improvements to this wonderful waterway."

TOLLS: Abolishing authority is not so simple

(R-Zion).

Still, the idea of eliminating the tollways does seem to have appeal.

"I think it would be wonderful if we could eliminate the tollways but we'd have to figure out how to come up with the income to repair the roads," Geo-Karis said. "I think that's got to be looked into. Maybe we can do it."

Geo-Karis said the Republican leadership in the Senate will be discussing a number of issues within the next couple weeks, and the tollways are one issue that is on the agenda.

Finding support for ending the tollways won't be hard in Lake County, according to County Board member Sandy Cole (R-Grayslake).

If a referendum were held in Lake County on the issue, Cole said she believes more than 80 percent of the residents would favor disbanding the tollways.

"If the governor needs encouragement for his idea, he should ask for a referendum to see how popular the tolls are," she said.

While the idea of ending tollways has been bandied about by various political candidates over the years, Cole said this is the "first time a governor has taken this strong a stand against the toll authority and it's very encouraging."

"I'm glad the governor is exploring ways we could end the reign of the toll highway authority," said Deb Giles of Wauconda, executive director of North Corridor Against the Tollway. "I'm sure that given enough thought and effort, there are creative ways to fund the ongoing maintenance of these roads, while converting them into freeways."

Giles' group has been vocal opponents of the proposed extension of Route 53 through Lake County. Giles said eliminating the tollway system could have a major impact on that project because there would have to be a "systematic toll increase" to pay for the northward extension of Route 53 as a toll road.

Although there may be popular support in this area for eliminating tolls, gaining statewide support may be more difficult.

"I think the governor's proposal is certainly something that should be considered," said State Sen. William Peterson (R-Prairie View). "The practicality is another thing that needs to be considered because we need the support of downstate legislators."

Peterson believes there is strong support among residents of Cook and the six collar counties for finding an alternative to the tollways but "once you get out of Cook and the collar counties, support is going to drop off dramatically."

"I think it will meet serious opposition from those (downstate) legislators," he said.

Peterson said some downstate legislators are concerned that if the tollway system is eliminated, money for maintenance of the former toll roads will have to come out of state motor fuel tax funds. As a result, they fear, it will mean less dollars for downstate roads.

"It certainly is going to be a long thought out process before we see a takeover of the tollways by IDOT—if that ever happens," he said.

State Rep. Tim Osmond (R-Antioch) agrees with Peterson the governor's idea of ending tolls is worth looking into but that there needs to be a viable alternative in place for funding ongoing road maintenance if the plan is to fly.

"I'm not in favor of scrapping it (the tollway system), until we find out what the alternatives are," he said.

BANK: Grand Premier joins Old Kent holdings

2000, Old Kent also expects to close on a previously announced purchase of Merchants Bancorp Inc., a $900 million banking company headquartered in Aurora.

Old Kent's deal to buy Grand Premier strengthens its foothold in the Chicago deposit market—the bank is currently No. 5 in the Chicago area—and will move the company to No. 5 in deposit market share in the entire state.

"Grand Premier is a high-quality banking franchise with a history of growth. This affiliation will augment Old Kent's growing presence in Chicago land, enabling the Corporation to broaden its customer service capabilities through additional locations and achieve greater economies of scale," said David J. Wagner, Chairman and CEO of Old Kent Financial Corp.

Grand Premier has 23 banking offices in Illinois, including Lake County offices in Crystal Lake, Gurnee, Island Lake, Mundelein, Wauconda and Waukegan.

Richard Geach, Chairman, President and CEO of Grand Premier Financial Inc. said that there are benefits for both customers and shareholders.

"We view this transaction as a unique opportunity for Grand Premier's customers and shareholders. Old Kent offers a wide menu of attractive products and greater convenience for our customers. For our shareholders, is means ownership of a growing organization with a 40-year history of consecutive increases in annual per-share earnings and dividends," Geach said.

With the acquisition of Grand Premier's $1.6 billion in assets, Old Kent will be close to becoming a $20 billion banking organization.

In the M & I branch acquisition, First Midwest Bank will purchase and operate the North Chicago Branch at 1011 14th St. In addition to the physical facilities, First Midwest is also purchasing the loans and deposits associated with the branch.

Immediately following the completion of the sale, expected to close about Oct. 25, the branch will close for remodeling. Former M & I customers will be able to transact their business at the current First Midwest North Chicago location, 1811 N. Sheridan Rd.

The 14th Street location will reopen in late November after the lobby is remodeled and drive-through updated. A drive-up automated teller machine will also be added.

"We are very excited about this opportunity. Both banks are already working hard to make the client's transition from M & I Bank to First Midwest Bank as seamless as possible," said Thomas J. Schwartz, Regional President of First Midwest.

M & I customers will soon begin receiving a series of mailings introducing them to the First Midwest organization.

Link announces aid to Illinois businesses

New legislation that was signed by Governor George Ryan earlier this month should be a major step in helping move Illinois businesses forward, according to State Sen Terry Link (D-Vernon Hills). The EDGE (Economic Development for a Growing Economy) program provides a new targeted tax credit incentive for businesses that create new jobs and make capital investments in Illinois. Link voiced his optimism about this new program which promises to help many businesses remain competitive with Illinois' Midwestern neighbors.

"This type of assistance is what is needed to maintain our positive economic climate," Link said. "I am encouraging businesses throughout the 30th district to investigate whether the EDGE program can help them in their work."

Link reported that the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs (DCCA) will be moving forward rapidly to get this program up and running. Interested individuals and companies can call (800) 252-2923 for additional information on this program. Additionally, Sen. Link expect to have applications available in his district office when they become available.

"I look forward to many more businesses, small and large alike, taking advantage of this program which will keep our economy moving along," Link said. "Interested residents of the 30th district are encouraged to contact my district office for additional information."

VETS: Services may be cut

A federal advisory committee released a report to the VA last week recommending that all inpatient services at the North Chicago hospital be transferred to other facilities.

Under the report recommendation, all inpatient beds would be transferred to other VA hospitals, such as the Lakeside Hospital on Chicago's North Side or the Hines VA Medical Center in Maywood. A small number of beds would also be moved to Milwaukee.

"What it would come down to is North Chicago becoming an outpatient clinic," said Doug Shouse, a spokesman for the VA Hospital in North Chicago. "We have more than 500 beds here and they would be relocated to other areas."

The inpatient services currently provided at the North Chicago facility include acute and critical care, long-term nursing care and substance abuse and psychiatric care.

About 500 angry veterans attended a meeting of the Lake County Veterans Assistance Commission at the North Chicago VA Medical Center to protest the cuts.

U.S. Rep. John Porter (R-Wilmette) attended the meeting and pledged that he would try to block the proposed cuts.

"He told the group he would do everything in his power to stop these recommended cuts from being implemented," said Dave Kuhn, a spokesman for Porter's office.

Porter said he was seeking the support of U.S. senators Dick Durbin and Peter Fitzgerald to attach an amendment to the appropriations bill to stop or at least delay implementation of the VA recommendation until there was time for further study.

The proposed cuts at the North Chicago VA would "mostly close down the facility in Lake County and he (Porter) thinks that is simply wrong," Kuhn said.

Shouse emphasized the report was merely a recommendation and may be subject to change. He said there is still time for veterans to review the report and make their comments.

"No decisions have been made," he said.

The VA web site for the report is www.va.gov/cno/ and there is an e-mail address for vets or their families to send their remarks. Comments can also be sent via mail to the Chief Network Office (10N) 810 Vermont Ave. Northwest, Washington, D.C. 20420. The deadline for sending in comments is Oct. 31.

However, Martini is fearful it may already be too late since the House already approved the VA appropriations bill and the Senate was scheduled to vote on it this week.

Martini faxed a letter urging all the county board members, township supervisors, mayors and village officials in Lake County to contact their senators and make their concerns known about the proposed cuts in VA services.

Martini said she thinks the timing of the report is curious because it was completed in late July but just released to the public last week, only days before the Senate was to vote on the VA appropriations.

"Where has this report been for the past two months?" she said.

Martini said Lake County has 24,000 veterans who are enrolled and eligible to utilize the services provided at the North Chicago Center. To make them drive to downtown Chicago or Milwaukee to get medical care is unconscionable, she believes.

"Our veterans have fought for use, and I'm hoping our elected officials will jump on the bandwagon and fight for our veterans. Because this is not good. It is not good for Lake County and it's not good for our veterans."

CLC NOTES

Arabian culture

An afternoon of music, art and dance, celebrating the rich heritage of Arabian culture, will be presented at the College of Lake County on Sept. 26. The program titled "An Arabian Cultural Mosaic" will be held from 2 to 5 p.m. in the Mainstage Theatre at CLC's Grayslake Campus. Tickets are $3 for CLC students and alumni, $5 for the general public and free for children under 12; however, tickets are required.

The program schedule is as follows:

2 p.m. "Calligraphy: History and Styles from the 7th Century to the Present," a slide/lecture presentation by Nihad Dukhan, an artist and a Chicago-based mechanical engineer from Gaza, Palestine. He creates contemporary interpretations of traditional Arabic calligraphy, which is considered an expression of the Islamic spirit.

2:45 p.m.. Refreshments and viewing of art and craft exhibits featuring calligraphy and Palestinian needlework.

3:15 p.m. Performance by the Issa Boulos Quartet featuring classical and popular Arabic music. Composer Boulos is a native of Ramallah, Palestine. He is the director of the Middle Eastern Ensemble at the University of Chicago and a teacher at the Old Town School of Folk Music. Other members of the quartet are percussionist Najib Bahri, guitarist Jennifer Trowbridge and clarinetist Donald J. Jacobs.

4:30 p.m. Performance by the Star Turmos Aia Debke Dance Troupe. T. ? Chicago-based group's dance style i. a spirited version of line dancing.

The program is sponsored by the communication arts division and funded in part by a grant from the CLC Foundation. For information on the program, call Steve Infantino, philosophy instructor, at 543-2560. For tickets, call the box office, 543-2300.

Day trip to Milwaukee

The College of Lake County's Discovery program for adults 50 and over will sponsor a one-day trip to Milwaukee, Wis. on Sept. 28. The trip will begin at 8:15 a.m. and conclude at 4:15 p.m. The bus will pick up participants at 8 a.m. from CLC's Southlake Educational Center, 1120 S. Milwaukee Ave. in Vernon Hills.

Highlights of the trip will include visits to the Miller Brewery and the arts museum, a drive through old historic neighborhoods and the lakefront, shopping at Old World Third Street and lunch at Mader's, one of the city's famous German restaurants.

The cost is $69, which includes lunch, transportation and a tour guide. For information, call 478-1833.

Help to start small business

Individuals about to start a business can learn the skills necessary to make more than 40 business start-up decisions by attending "The Road to Business Success," an entrepreneurial training program offered by the College of Lake County's Small Business Development Center.

The program includes five workshops covering a step-by-step business planning process. A free bonus session providing tips on coordinating and using the plan is also included. The sessions will be offered from 6:30 to 10 p.m. on Mondays beginning Sept. 20 in Room C003 at the Grayslake Campus as follows:

Sept. 20 and 27—Getting started: Are you Ready for Entrepreneurship? ($60)

Oct. 4 and 11—Business Planning: Your Roadmap to Success ($60).

Oct. 18—Steps to Small Business Start-up ($30)

Oct. 25, Nov. 1, 8 and 15: Market Planning and Implementation ($120)

Nov. 22 and 29—Basic Record-Keeping and Accounting for Small Business ($60)

Dec. 6—Putting it all Together, a bonus session for those who enroll in the full program.

Students may attend all 12 sessions for $280 or 10 sessions for $255. Students may also attend individual workshops. The training program is offered in cooperation with the United States Small Business Administration and the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs. To register, call 543-2033 or fax to 223-9371. MasterCard, Visa, Discover and American Express are accepted.

Forest preserve to expand Granger Woods preserve

By JOHN ROSZKOWSKI
Regional Editor

The Lake County Forest Preserve District will soon be expanding one of its existing preserves, with help from the referendum approvec by county voters last fall.

Lake County Forest Preserve members are expected to approve the purchase of a 34-acre parcel addition to Granger Woods Forest Preserve in Mettawa. The forest preserve's land preservation and acquisition committee authorized the purchase of the land last week.

The $1.45 million addition is the first new land purchase using proceeds from the $55 million bond referendum approved by the voters in November 1998.

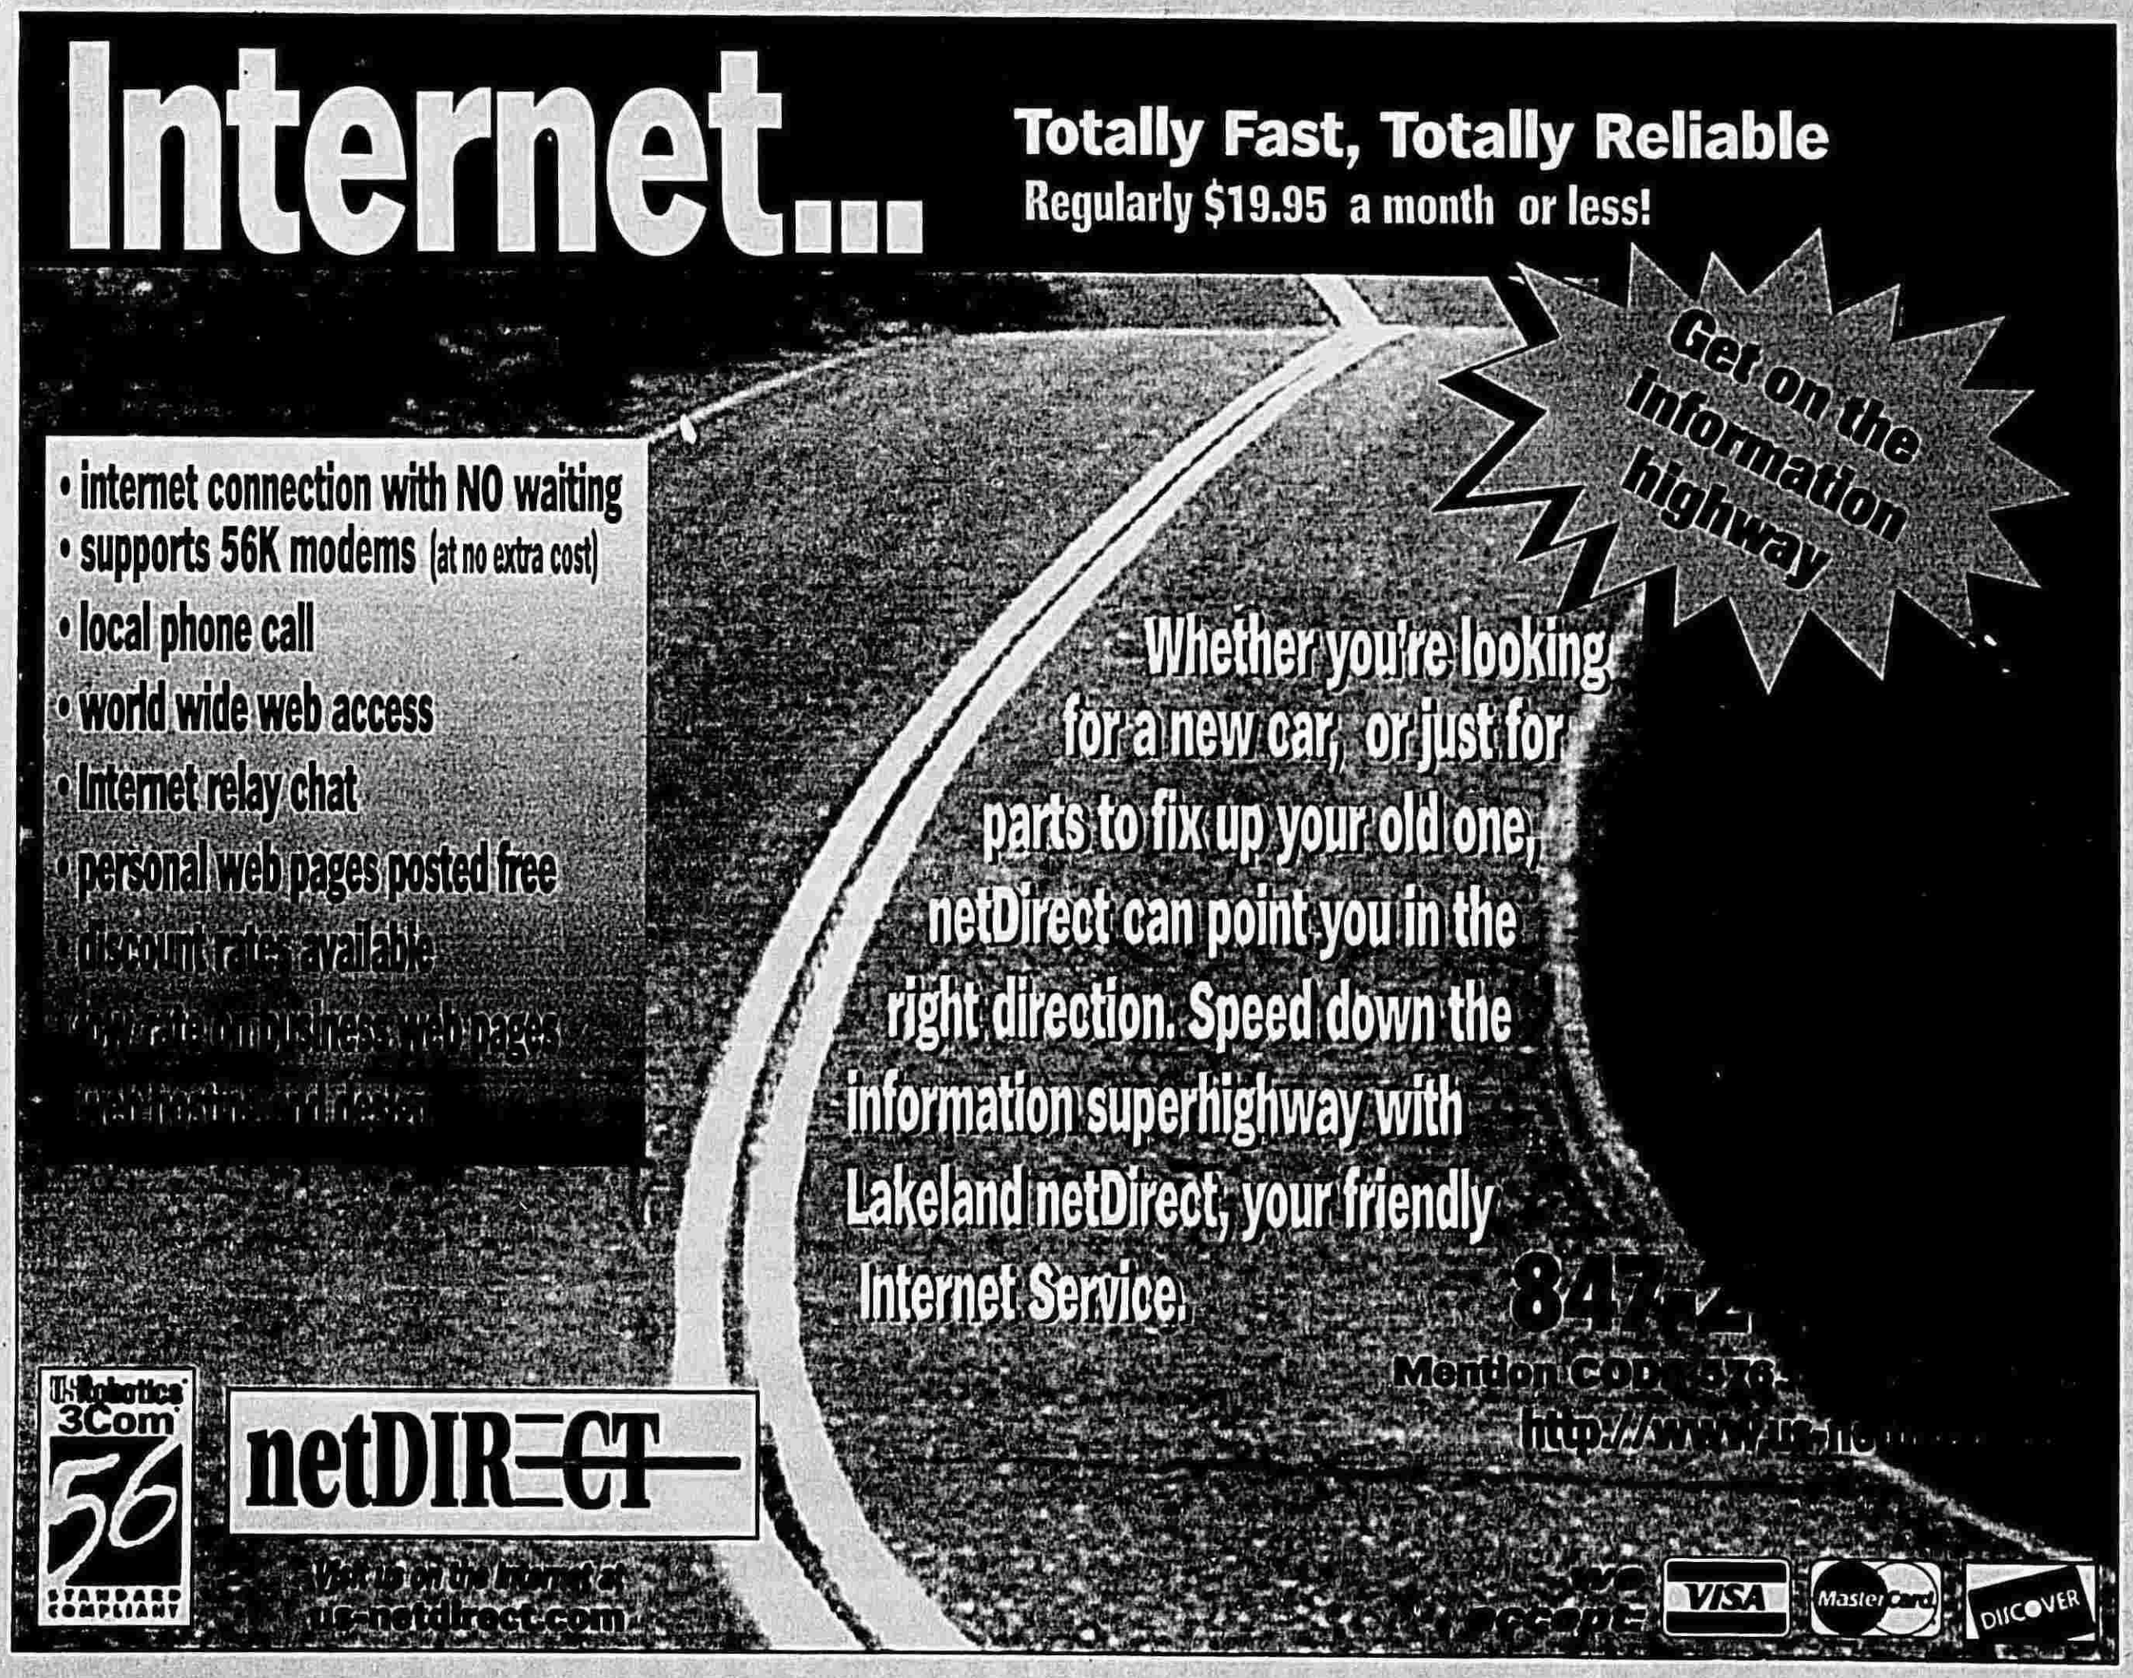

"It's an excellent parcel. Granger Woods is a real high quality ecosystem and this area provides a natural buffer for the (forest preserve's) high quality flatwoods forest and endangered species. And it adds to an existing preserve," said Sue Hawkins, public information for the Lake County Forest Preserve District.

The latest addition expands the size of the Granger Woods preserve to 290 acres. The 34-acre parcel is formerly the Coli property, located on Route 60 and Mary's Road. It includes a large open pasture area, with some trees and wetland areas.

"It really has a real nice open area that would be wonderful for prairie restoration," said forest preserve board member Sandy Cole (R-Grayslake).

The original Granger Woods Forest Preserve was established through a donation from the W.W. Granger Co., according to Cole. In addition to the planting of native prairie grasses on the new parcel, Cole said there may be plans in the future for hiking trails through the site.

"We're real happy to have it," she said. "It's a real nice piece of land."

They're getting married – let the planning begin

He popped the question, and she said yes. Maybe he got down on his knees, maybe he didn't. As familiar or traditional as the simple little question, "Will you marry me?" may be, nothing can take away from the one-of-a-kind story of how they fell in love or the look in her eyes when he asked — but this isn't the time to be idling in the moment.

The engagement must be announced, the news spread. Informing family, friends and co-workers is what makes the engagement feel official. And more importantly, it is what gets the wedding planning in motion, beginning with the question, "When?"

Choosing a wedding date, one that allows the bride- and groom-to-be an ample amount of time to prepare, is a must. How much time a couple needs will vary with the size and style of wedding they choose. If planning a traditional wedding, the couple should give themselves at least nine months to a year to prepare for it. The next step lies in selecting just the right place to exchange vows and with whom to share the experience. This will help the couple determine the size and style of their wedding. If taking a traditional approach, the couple will want to select their honor attendants — bridesmaids for the bride, groomsmen for the groom. Additionally, the two can begin compiling a guest list.

As they compile the guest list, the couple should consider their gift registry. It's best to register for gifts at more than one store, in more than one price range. This allows guests more flexibility in choosing gifts.

Next, the couple must decide on the wedding professionals — the musicians, photographers, videographer, florist and caterer. A visit with the officiant should be arranged as well, in the event that any pre-wedding requirements need to be fulfilled.

Once the ceremony and reception sites have been booked and the necessary decisions made, the couple should consider their honeymoon. Consulting a travel agent always is a good idea. In doing so, the couple may receive discounts and other unique benefits or travel packages by making it known that they'll be newlyweds.

After the reservations have been made, the couple at last can begin focusing on themselves. In order to look as dazzling on their wedding day as smiling figurines atop a wedding cake, the bride- and groom-to-be will need to decide on their wedding apparel. If wedding attendants are involved, the bride will want to keep her bridesmaids in mind — the color and style of dresses they'd feel most comfortable wearing.

A successful wedding takes time and careful organization. To be safe, the bride- and groom-to-be should purchase a wedding planner. This way, they won't run the risk of forgetting the little things, like bands — not the kind that play music, but the kind they'll be wearing on their fingers for the rest of their lives.

Let your wedding guests capture the bride and groom at ease, by placing Kodak Max flash one-time-use cameras at each table.

Whether you choose to hold your wedding in the snowy North or along the beaches of the West Coast, the special day should be captured on film. The experts at Eastman Kodak Company offer the following tips to help capture all the incredible moments of your important day.

Start early — To truly capture the feeling of the wedding experience, start taking pictures before the "big day." The photos of all the significant events between the engagement announcement and the wedding day — like the engagement party, shopping for bridesmaid dresses, the bridal shower, trying on your wedding dress for the first time, and the bachelorette party — will make a great addition to your photo album.

Don't be a stranger — Believe it or not, many camera "problems" can be a direct result of users who did not take the time to read the instruction manual and learn how to operate the camera. Familiarizing yourself with a new camera is very important: It increases confidence in picture-taking and helps avoid obvious mistakes. Knowing how to load the film properly, and verifying that the film is advancing in the camera, should be second nature.

Catch candid shots — Get your guests involved with your wedding day by placing a one-time-use camera on each table at the reception. The Kodak wedding camera pack is a great way for everyone to celebrate and help you catch fun, candid moments with your guests. Each pack contains five Kodak Max flash one-time-use cameras, which are lightweight and easy to use. The cameras come pre-loaded with Kodak Max film, which offers maximum versatility in bright light, low light, stills or fast action.

For more information or photo tips, call the Kodak Information Center at 1-800-242-2424, or visit the Web site at http://www.kodak.com.

Here comes the bride and her bridesmaids looking beautiful as they walk down the aisle

Searching for that perfect gown, a bride-to-be is faced with an array of difficult decisions. Should she choose satin or lace? Will she have a train? A veil? Or, will a simple headpiece suit her best? And this is just the beginning.

There also are the bridesmaids to consider. Rarely does one dress style flatter everyone. All too often, a bride-to-be chooses one uniform look for all of her attendants, leaving the bridesmaids to grin and bear it. As a result, they end up paying a lot for a dress that they only will wear once, before it gets pushed to the back of the closet, forever out of sight.

A well-dressed bridal party is not difficult to achieve, provided that everyone keeps an open mind. While most brides-to-be have vague notions of what dress styles will be most flattering to their figures, it helps to have a professional, objective opinion. The most significant decisions are made in the dressing room and, more often than not, the gown style a bride finds most pleasing rarely is the original style she had in mind.

When selecting gown styles that best suit the bridal party, it is important to consider the following factors.

• Shape — Typical dress shapes include the ball gown (natural waist with a voluminous skirt); basque (natural waist with a V-shaped front); bustier (strapless with sculpted bust line); empire (high waist that falls just under the bust line with a slender or A-line skirt); princess or A-line (falls along the outline of the body into a flared skirt); and sheath (narrow, fitted style shaped at the waist). While the bride may prefer a ball gown for herself, the bridesmaids' preferences might differ over A-line vs. sheath. It is perfectly acceptable to mix-and-match, but if a bride wants a uniform look, varying the necklines offers a less subtle, yet still flattering alternative.

• Neckline — If the bride is firm about what dress shape she wants her bridesmaids to wear, the best place to improvise is in the neckline. Necklines range from high and close-to-the-neck to low and off-the-shoulder. Other types include the boat or bateau (follows the curve of the collarbone, high in front and back, wide at the sides); jewel (collarless, rounded neckline that hugs the base of the throat, just above the collarbone); square; and sweetheart (shaped like the top of a heart).

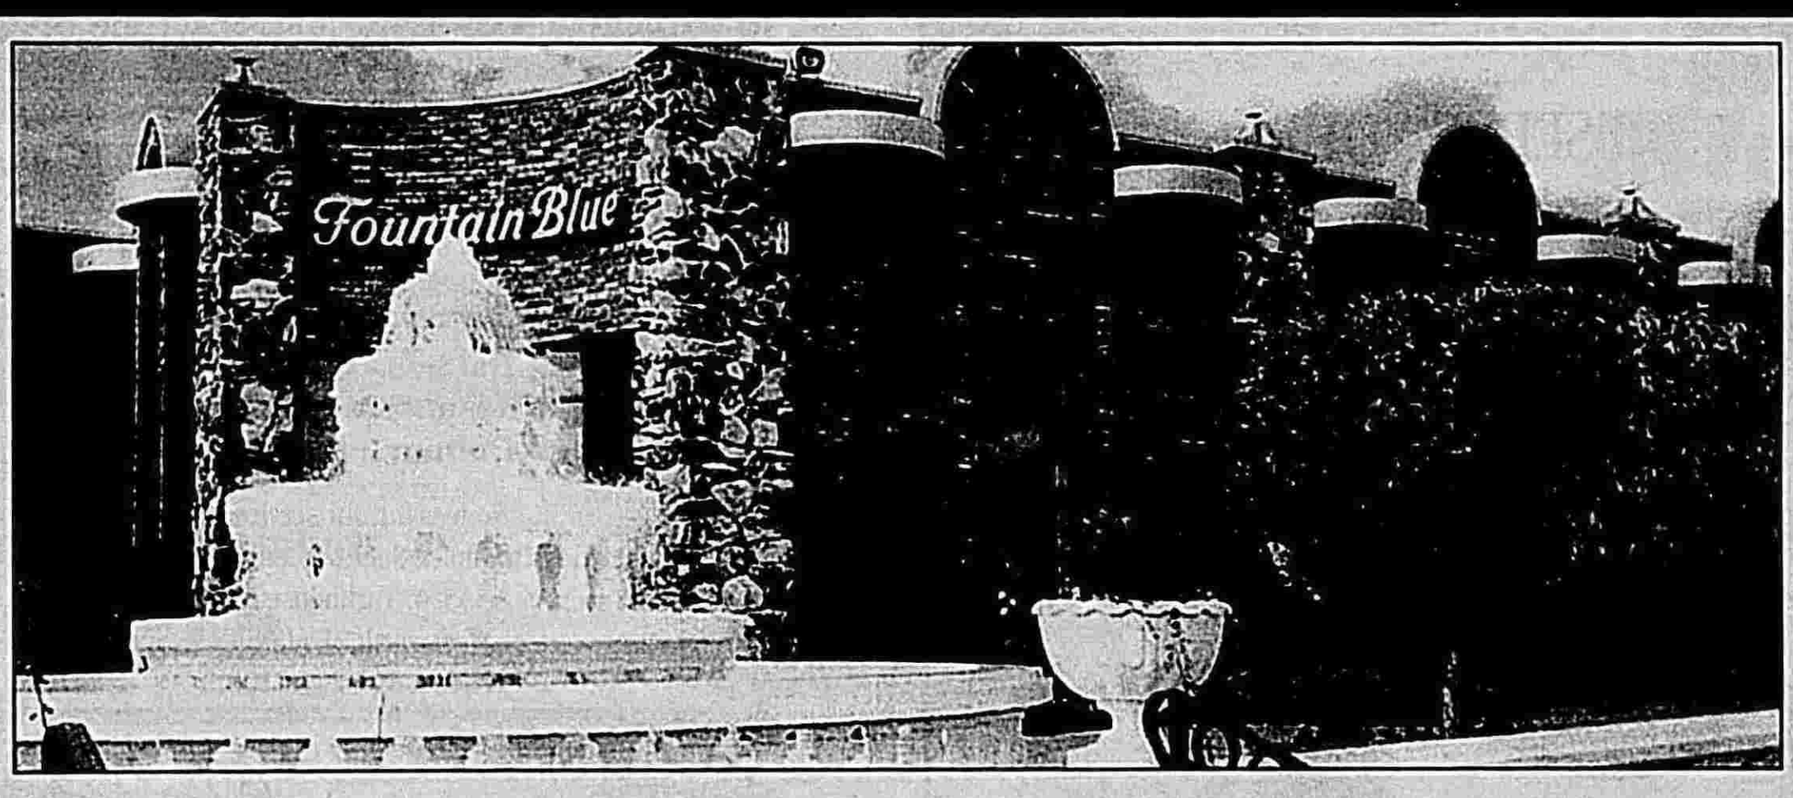

Confident as she applies the finishing touches, this bride-to-be has no worries on her wedding day because she knows she has chosen a gown style that will make her look her most beautiful as she makes her way down the aisle.

• Sleeves — Sleeves pose another opportunity for variety in dress style. Sleeves can be cap (very short and fitted, covering shoulders and very tops of arms); fitted (slim sleeves that taper as they reach the wrist); three-quarter (cover three-quarters of the arm, stopping on the forearm, just below the elbow); puff (gathered into a gentle puff near the shoulders); or not there at all (sleeveless or spaghetti straps).

As for which dress for which figure, knowing everyone's best (and less-than-best) features is essential. Petite figures look nicest in empire, sheath, and princess or A-line dress shapes that give the illusion of elongated lines, drawing the eye upward. Collars and sleeves should be proportionate to arms, therefore small and delicate.

Whatever style of gown a bride chooses, she can be confident knowing that she and her attendants will look their best when they consider these factors and keep an open mind.

Ushers were Jeremy Frontzak and Ben Frontzak.

The reception was held at Gale Street Inn, Diamond Lake.

The couple honeymooned on a Cruise.

CarrieAnn of Island Lake is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Stahl Jr. of Island Lake. She graduated with honors from Wauconda High School and National Louis University with a Bachelors Degree in Elementary Education.

Abe of McHenry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Juszczyk and Michael Frontzak. He is a graduate of Wauconda High School.

Gift ideas for the bridal party

With the cost of weddings rising every year, more couples are paying for some or all of their wedding expenses. However, when trying to budget, one cost that can't be overlooked is gifts for the wedding party: those people who diligently work to make the wedding day a perfect affair.

The tradition of buying gifts for wedding attendants dates back to ancient times when Egyptian noble women presented precious metals and gems to their ladies-in-waiting. Today, fine jewelry still is a popular gift. Available in a range of prices and styles, it's easy to find gifts to fit both the budget and the personalities of the attendants. The Jewelry Information Center, a nonprofit trade association in New York, suggests the following gift ideas for the wedding party:

• The bride's attendants — Sterling silver bangle or charm bracelets, colored gemstone drop earrings, or 14-karat gold hoop or "X" earrings make wonderful gifts. Also, spaced cultured pearl necklaces on invisible microfilament called "Floaters" are perfect for a classic jewelry gift. The cultured pearl necklaces come in a variety of fashionable colors, like pink, peach, gray and plum, and cost as little as $85 each.

• Ushers — Multifunction sport watches, sterling silver cuff links, money clips, elegant fountain or ball point pens, cigar accessories or lighters all are gifts any man would like to own. They are available at prices starting at $50.

• The maid of honor and best man — These special people usually receive a gift that is a little "extra" for all their hard work in helping to make the big day a success. Consider classic cultured pearl stud earrings, a sterling silver and 14-karat gold bangle bracelet, or for a very special maid of honor, a diamond solitaire necklace. The best man will enjoy a classic dress watch or 14-karat gold cuff link set.

Fine jewelry is a lasting gift for both the bride and the bridal party.

"Fine jewelry is the perfect gift for the bride and groom to show their appreciation," says Lynn Ramsey, president of the Jewelry Information Center. "Unlike any other gift, its sentiment and quality will last for years to come." Many fine jewelry designers and retailers have special bridal collections in their fine jewelry lines. Ask a local jeweler for gift suggestions.

When it comes to wedding music, don't be left singing the blues

Imagine a beautiful bride, all dressed in white, walking down the aisle without music. The eerie silence would be deafening. When choosing music for your wedding day, don't let every bride's worst nightmare become your reality — take the time and necessary precautions to avoid wedding day music disasters.

Ask friends, relatives and the local musicians union for recommendations and check references. You can call the Better Business Bureau or Consumer Affairs to find out if there have been any complaints about the music providers you are considering. To inquire about disc jockeys (DJs), you also can call the American Disc Jockey Association.

You'll need music for the ceremony as well as the reception, so consider the following when determining what kind of music will be appropriate:

• Location — Churches or synagogues may have certain rules and regulations about what kind of music is acceptable. Be sure to ask first, in order to avoid any costly alternatives.

• Performers — Chances are, you'll want different performers for the reception than you will for the ceremony. You may want a string quartet, vocalist or flutist for the ceremony, but a DJ for the reception — spinning your favorite tunes. Additional performers to consider: comedian, bagpipe players, dancers.

• Size — Keep in mind the size of the ceremony and location. While a string quartet might be the perfect background for an intimate ceremony, a larger hall will not share the same acoustics.

• Style — Is the wedding formal or informal? Contemporary or traditional? A full-piece orchestra would seem a bit lavish for an informal reception with a casual style. Aim for music that suits the style or theme of the wedding.

• Taste — Pleasing every guest is next to impossible, however, choosing music that fits your guests' tastes will make for a lively, more memorable wedding. As for the reception, determine whether the crowd will be older or younger, and what you expect of them. If your goal is to have a full dance floor, choose music that will make them want to dance.

CONTRACTS

Once you've decided on music, it's time to get the perfect wedding signed, sealed and delivered — with a contract. Be sure to include the following items:

• Agreed-upon price, amount of deposit, additional charges (travel, early setup, cocktail hour) and overtime rates

• Names of specific people you want (band leader, vocalist, DJ, dancers); Specify what types of substitutions and compensation will be made if names agreed upon don't appear

• If having a band: the number of musicians and what instruments they play

• If having a DJ: additional duties besides music, like supplying party favors or acting as master of ceremonies

• Date, number of hours they'll be playing music and location

• Number of breaks, what kind of refreshments will be available to them, and how they'll fill-in the breaks (CDs, tapes, other entertainment)

• Style of dress or special costumes you'd like them to perform in

Additionally, if you have special music requests for the wedding, make sure that you specify this ahead of time. Providing sheet music for the band or CDs for the DJ will ensure you hear the right version of the tune. And, if the band is not familiar with it, at least they'll have time to learn.

Engineering
Mercruiser, the world leader in Marine Stern Drives and Inboard Engines, is currently in search of engineering professionals to share their expertise:

Quality Engineer
Utilize your BSE and 2 years experience in a manufacturing environment to lead process capability studies, measurement analysis, and problem solving as well as reduce total cost of quality. Multi-process experience (matching, assembly, finish, and die cast) along with broad exposure to quality systems, problem solving, quality auditing, statistics and measurement systems, will demonstrate your ability to initiate and install a quality system. Strong interpersonal and communication skills essential. Moderate travel required.

MANUFACTURING ENGINEER
The selected candidate will possess a degree in Mechanical or Design Engineering coupled with a minimum of 5 years progressively responsible manufacturing experience, primarily in mid automotive assembly and engine testing. Experience with PLCs (Allen Bradley, Modicon and Funac) as well as skills in process design and problem solving in engine testing equipment. Your background must demonstrate success in capital planning and justification of major equipment and facilities. PC literacy (Windows, spreadsheets presentation graphic database) is essential. We need a highly effective communicator as this position interacts with groups and individuals at all levels in the organization.

PRODUCT ENGINEER
Utilize your BSME combined with 2 or more years experience in the automotive industry to handle product development, including current product and sustaining engineering. We require excellent analytical oral/written communication skills, the ability to be flexible, perform well in a team environment and travel occasionally. Marine experience is a plus. CAD experience desired.

If you are qualified and desire a challenging position with a world leader, send us your resume, complete with salary history and position preference, to MERCRUISER, Stillwater, OK, FAX: 920-926-2351

How To Survive The Job Search
By Nancy Sakol

Q: I am writing to you because I was recently faced with a situation that really left me in a bad way. I had been employed with (name withheld) for the past three years. I loved my co-workers however, I found the position less than fulfilling with little room for advancement and barely a challenge. I recently decided to put out some resumes to other corporations I felt would be more of a challenge. I did not want to cause attention at work to the fact that I was actively out there looking, so I kept it very quiet. I received a few telephone calls from companies in response to the resumes I sent out. I scheduled times to interview early in the morning, over a longer lunch or later in the afternoons, I had to come up with several excuses to my boss as to why I had to leave early or come in late. This went on over a two-week period period until I received an offer from a company who interviewed me three times with each interview being no less than two hours long. I was excited over the offer, which was exactly what I had hoped for. The money and the opportunity combined with the corporate benefits allowed me to make up my mind and accept the offer without further thought. I gave them a start-up date and went in the following morning and gave my two-week notice to my current employer, who was shocked at my news. He immediately said that he would like the opportunity to counter the offer to have me stay. I felt that I at least owed it to him to listen. I informed my new employer they my boss wished to make me a counter offer and that I would call them the following day. My boss however, never got back to me that afternoon. He approached me the following morning and said that the company was putting something together for me and that I would hear from him later that afternoon. I once again called the new employer and explained this to them and they expressed their concern. Once again, my boss failed to approach me by the end of the day. On the third day he approached me with a matched offer of money and I decided to stay. I contacted the new employer and explained that I appreciated the offer but I was staying put. They were not kind. A week and a half after this whole incident, I was fired from my job. No reason given. Of course, I look now and realize it had something to do with the job offer. My husband blames me, saying I should have never accepted the offer to stay. I believe my boss was genuinely happy that I decided to stay. What do you think? T.J.-Lake Villa

A: Allow me to tell you about counter offers and why they should never be accepted. First, accepting a counter offer is an insult. How does it feel to have been bought? The money for your increase came from where? Perhaps your next raise was given to you early. If the money was there now, was it always there for you? You just got it because you threatened to quit? Statistics will show that the possibility of terminating or being terminated from a position within 6 months to a year after accepting a counter offer is high. Your employer is also taking a look at your lack of loyalty this portrayed in seeking another employer while making excuses that he now knows were lies, therefore your loyalty will always be questioned. You have further let your employer know that you were unhappy or you would not be looking. The same reasons that caused you to look for a job in the first place, are still there. But the most important reason for NOT accepting a counter offer is that your company most likely started looking for your replacement, for less money, almost immediately after you gave your notice. Hard lesson to learn. It sounded as though you had a great deal with the new company that you let slip through your hands. Don't blame them for not being kind. It was you who dragged them around for three days after accepting the offer.

Powertrain and suspensions enhanced on Sonoma

Sonoma, the compact pickup that is equally adept at handling big loads and challenging roads, provides more standard power and handling on its four-wheel drive models in the 2000 model year with a higher-output V6 engine and a handling/trailering suspension that is just as comfortable hauling, towing or simply curising America's roadways into the next millennium.

"Sonoma is highly regarded for providing the most versatile configurations of cabs, bodystyles, wheelbases, pickup boxes, suspensions and powertrains in its segment," said Sonoma Brand Manager Chirs Mazglad. "Now, we're raising the bar even higher on four-wheel-drive models with increased standard power and handling characteristics."

As the new standard four-wheel-drive engine, a higher-powered Vortec 4300 V6 engine generates 190 horsepoer at 4400 rpm an increase of 15 horsepower — and 250 lb-ft. of torque at 2800 rpm — an increase of 10 lb.-ft.

In a further enhancement, the Vortect 4300 V6 has been equipped with new roller rocker arms, a new roller timing chain and a powered metal sprocket that improves its quality, reliability, durability and quietness.

The engine also features platinum-tipped spark plugs, which help Sonoma travel up to 100,000 miles before its first scheduled tune-up and long-life engine coolant, good for up to five years or 150,000 miles, whichever comes first.

Sonoma will also provide alternative fuel compatibility with all its Vortec 2200 four-cylinder engines, beginning in midyear. The Vortect 2200 will be able to run on either normal unleaded grades of fuel or those with an 85-percent mixture or ethanol (or any combination of fuel mixture in between). A sensor in the engine automatically detects the requirement and makes necessary changes to accommodate the fuel mixture.

Four-wheel-drive models also benefit from a standard handling/trailering suspension which was optional in 1999. The new standard suspension provides increased damping for a firmer highway ride while also providing improved handling while trailering. In addition, the suspension also includes heavy-duty engine and transmission oil cooling capability and wider aspect ratio tires with greater load-carrying capacity than the solid/smooth ride suspension it replaces.

Four-wheel drive models also offer an uplevel "High-Rider" (on extended cab only) for optimum ride control and off-road capability. The High-Rider package includes an aggressive high-stance and unique wheel flares.

Sonoma delivers top-notch towing capability, whether for boats, RVs or commercial operations. For the 2000 model year, higher trailer ratings are being introduced that more accurately reflect the full extent of Sonoma's trailering capability using a rating methodology similar to that of its competitors.

Overall, the trailering capacity can be increased to 5,900 pounds on four-wheel drive and 6,400 pounds on two-wheel-drive models properly equipped with an automatic transmission, 3.42 or 3.73 axle ratio and aftermarket weight distributing hitch. More specifically, tow ratings (with a weight distributing hitch) on two-wheel-drive regular cab models have increased to 6,400 pounds and four-wheel drive regular cab models have increased to 5,900 pounds, a 400-pound increase over 1999. The maximum rating on the extended cab four-wheel drive model has increased to 5,700 pounds, a 600-pound increase over 1999.

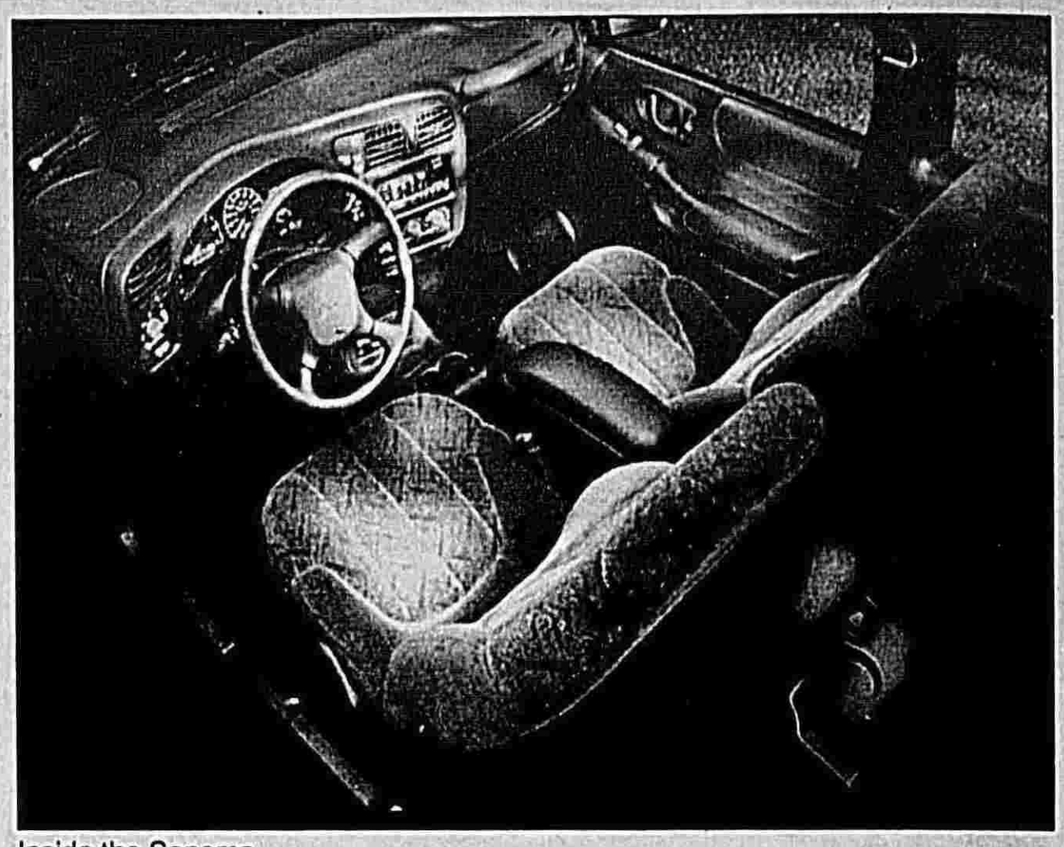

In addition, both two-and four-wheel drive wideside bodystyle models equipped witht he V6 engine provide 3,500-pound trailering capability with their standard step bumper. Four-wheel-drive models have a standard InstaTrac, shift-on-the-fly system that provides extriction at the touch of a button.

Powertrains, suspensions and trailering rates aren't the only enhancements for 2000. Extended cabs, which account for 55 percent of Sonoma sales, are becoming more appealing for those seeking a basic design, in the form of a new lower-priced base trim package. It includes a 60/40 split bench seat and such minor differences as its own unique door trim panels, rubber floor mats and gray rather than body-colored grilles.

The new base models are expected to be particularly attractive to commercial and fleet operators who value their ability to provide safe, secure storage space for tools and other work-related items. GMC's strong heritage as a work-truck manufacturer has made Sonoma popular with commercial/fleet operators who account for about 11 percent of its sales.

The Sonoma lineup has been simplified by discontinuing the four-wheel drive long bed model. Many commercial/fleet operators who bought such vehicles equipped their cargo beds with toolboxes. With the new base model extended cabs, they have more flexible storage provisions for such items.

Also discontinued is the four-wheel drive high-rider regular cab model. The high rider continues to be available in an extended cab four-wheel drive model where its high value and standout styling and performance have led it to a strong sales, and continues to expand its appeal.

1998 another record year for new-vehicle dealers

Surpassing many analysts' expectations, 1998 was another record-breaking year for franchised new-vehicle dealers, according to the 1999 edition of "NADA Data," a publication of the National Automobile Dealers Association.

Some highlights of the 1999 "NADA Data":

•Franchised dealers sold 15.1 million new vehicles in 1998, up 3 percent over 1997 and just under the all-time record set in 1986.

•Total revenue rose 6 percent, to $534 billion.

•The average retail selling price of new vehicle rose 4.2 percent, to $23,600 — reflection of consumers purchasing more SUV's and higher-priced trucks.

•Franchised dealers sold 19.3 million used vehicles in 1998, at an average sales price of $12,500.

•Parts and service revenue reached a record $64 billion in 1998, up 2 percent over the prior year.

A complete presentation of "NADA Data" appears on the association's Web site at www.nada.org/

Bank Repossessed Vehicles to be sold Directly to the Public

Local Waukegan Dealership Disposing of 249 Bank Repos and Other Used Vehicles For Only $69... Then Start Making Payments

WAUKEGAN, IL-

Bank Repossessed cars and trucks are among the most searched-for bargains in the automotive industry. Unfortunately for the average person, they're also the hardest to come by.

Banks often sell repossessed vehicles to car dealers at rock-bottom prices - allowing dealers to re-sell them for retail value. But bargain-hunters can take heart: This week, Union Nissan and Truckworld are going to change that.

This Wednesday, September 15th through Saturday, September 18th, Union Nissan and Truckworld will offer 249 bank repossessed, lease return and other used vehicles for thousands below normal values, and pass the savings on to their customers.

> "This is the opportunity Waukegan area bargain hunters have been waiting for! Customers won't see savings like this again all year."
> Malcohm Thurman, General Sales Manager. Union Nissan

"These vehicles have been acquired at incredible savings from banks (repos), auctions, and other sources," Malcohm Thurman, General Sales Manager of Union Nissan said. "Our creditors have asked us to sacrifice this inventory immediately - regardless of loss of profit. And if that means selling these vehicles for near or below wholesale, then that's what we'll do."

Every bank repossessed and other pre-owned vehicle will be available for just a '69 acquisition fee* then start making payments. "It's that simple, " said Thurman. "To make these bargains even easier, we'll mark the payments right on the windshield. Just pick your vehicle and pick your payment. You won't find a faster, easier way to get a great deal on a pre-owned vehicle."

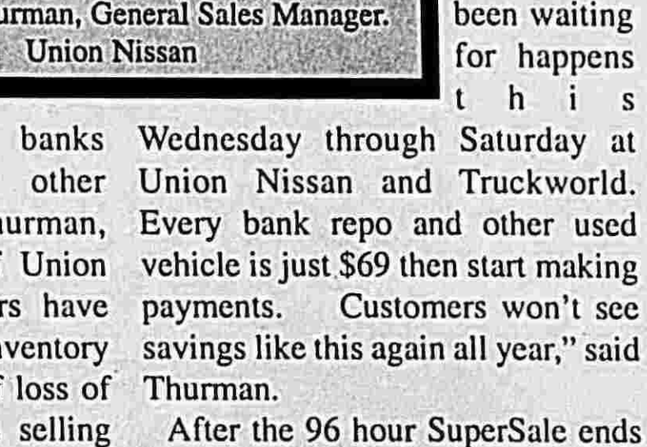

Almost every type of vehicle and price range will be available, from luxury 4x4s to basic transportation. Many are still under warranty. "With our pre-owned inventory near an all-time high, chances are we have what you're looking for in stock and ready to drive home," Thurman added.

Extra staff from across the U.S. have been flown in to assure Union Nissan and Truckworld customers prompt, quality service and the best finance terms possible. Thurman said, "We'll have over $3.5 million in financing available for this event, so chances are we can arrange financing for just about anyone who is employed, regardless of past credit history."

Trade-ins will be accepted, and customers are encouraged to bring their title or payment book to expedite delivery."

"The opportunity Waukegan area bargain hunters have been waiting for happens this Wednesday through Saturday at Union Nissan and Truckworld. Every bank repo and other used vehicle is just $69 then start making payments. Customers won't see savings like this again all year," said Thurman.

After the 96 hour SuperSale ends at 5:00 p.m. on Saturday September 18th, Union Nissan and Truckworld will send many of these vehicles to auction. Any question can be directed to (847) 244-8000. Union Nissan is located at 3315 West Grand Avenue in Waukegan. Truckworld is located at 3375 West Grand Avenue in Waukegan.

*Limit 2 vehicles per household, Please. '69 plus tax, title, license & doc. fee, with approved credit.

Cold-weather car care: Three critical concerns for confident winter travel

It's here. 'Tis the season for Alberta Clippers. Is your car ready for Jack Frost's icy fingers?

All vehicles need attention from time to time, but when it's cold, your car needs extra care. There is no sense in putting yourself or loved ones at unnecessary risk. Compared to freezing your ears off, winterizing your vehicle is relatively painless.

For confident winter starts, it is important to keep a watch on three critical areas: the lubrication system, the cooling system and the battery. Let's take a quick look under the hood to see if you're ready for the worst of Old Man Winter.

Check Your Motor Oil

It is important to check your motor-oil levels on a periodic basis. Without lubrication, friction between moving parts leads to engine wear.

However, it also is important to think about the type of motor oil you are using. For severe cold, there is a significant performance difference between synthetic and conventional motor oils. Few people give much thought to the oil that they use.

Cold weather is tough on engines because of the limitations of traditional lubricants. Traditional motor oils and greases become thicker, thus slowing starting rpm (revolutions per minute), restricting oil flow to critical engine parts, increasing wear on bearings and rings, decreasing engine life, and increasing the burden on an already overtaxed starting system.

Through the use of additives, oil manufacturers began developing multi-viscosity oils that had a broader service range — 10W-30 motor oils and later 5W-30 oils improved fluidity in colder temperatures. The lower the number in front of the W, the better the cold-weather viscosity. However, even with additives, conventional petroleum-based motor oils flow or pump only down to about 13 F below zero. "Not good enough," say many Northerners who routinely see thermometers hover in the minus 30 F range.

For really cold weather, only synthetic motor oils offer the kind of performance that allows cars and trucks to start with greater ease. Many synthetic motor oils still flow or pump at temperatures up to 60 F and 70 F below zero. Synthetics have a broader service range than traditional petroleum.

In 1991, more than a half-dozen Chevrolet Corvettes snapped their crankshafts when they were started up to be moved from a lot in Bowling Green, Ky. After an investigation into the cause of these breakdowns, General Motors determined that it was lubricant failure. The solution was to mandate synthetic motor oil as the factory fill for this high-performance engine.

The admonition to check your motor oil is intended as a reminder to not only watch fluid levels, but to consider whether your motor oil is fulfilling its lubricating function in severe weather. No sense in being stranded on an isolated road because your engine couldn't turn over.

Check Your Antifreeze

Neglecting the antifreeze in your engine's cooling system also can result in serious damage to your vehicle. When water freezes it expands, putting high stress on the corridors where it travels. A cracked engine block is not unlikely in extreme cold. Water-pump failure and blown hoses also are common side effects from frozen cooling systems.

There are a number of relatively inexpensive antifreeze testers available for measuring the effective working temperature of your antifreeze. If you can't afford one of these gauges, have the radiator fluid checked at your local service station to make sure that it is suitable for severe cold temperatures.

In recent years there has been a growing awareness of the hazards associated with traditional ethylene glycol antifreeze. EG-based antifreeze not only is considered an environmental hazard and deadly for pets when spilled on the ground, it is toxic for children.

What is especially bad is that EG-based antifreeze has a sweet taste that invites animals and children to ingest it.

An alternative to this antifreeze is the new propylene glycol, which generally is regarded as safe for accidental ingestion. In addition, it has an unpleasant taste, making it unlikely that animals or children will drink any appreciable amount. Propylene glycol provides excellent protection against freezing, boiling and corrosion.

Check Your Battery

The ideal operating temperature of your car battery is 80 F. As temperatures drop, so does the efficiency of the battery. In very cold weather, the battery's power output can be diminished to as little as 10 percent.

In addition, as batteries age their strength is further reduced. When it is very cold and your older battery has lost a measure of its cranking capacity, you have a situation where it may not have the power to turn over the engine.

Cold winter starts are harsh. If the motor oil is not fluid, and the battery worn down, you may want to have your cellular phone handy in case you need to call for help.

Be Prepared

It never hurts to be prepared. In addition to these routine maintenance checks, it still is a good idea to stock the usual survival supplies as standard procedure for your vehicle — shovel, bag of sand or grit, toolbox, jumper cables, fuel line de-icer additive, large flashlight, and road flares. In regions where winters especially are severe, extra blankets, clothes, food, fluids and a first-aid kit are a life-insurance policy that you hope you won't ever need, but also can't afford to be without.

Market's strong performance expected to last into the 2000s

The Chicago new vehicle market has been on an impressive winning streak over the past six years. since 1994, new vehicle registrations in the area have exceeded 400,000 units, an excellent track record to be sure. It is sort of like a major league baseball team winning over 100 games for six consecutive seasons. It doesn't happen often, so when it does happen it is something special. And indeed, six years of very strong market conditions is unprecedented.

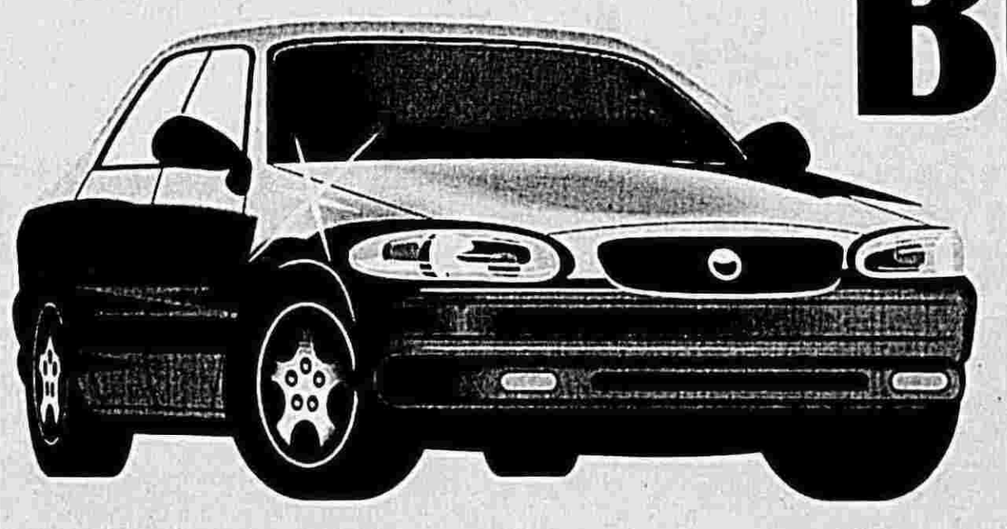

But the burning question on the minds of Chicago dealers is: How long will the robust market last? It's a critical question and the answer can have a pivotal consequences for the strategic plans of just about every dealer in the area. So, what's in store for the Chicago market during the next 2 to 3 years? On balance, more of the same — and that's certainly good news. Assuming that there are no major national or global economic shocks to the Chicago economy (an energy crisis, war, ect.), Auto Outlook predicts that the market will remain in good shape for at least the next three years.

Here's the rub: On a historical basis the market will remain above average, but we do look for some very mild softening to occur.

In the short term (6 months to a year), economic fluctuation can have a pronounced impact on market conditions. In the long term (2 to 3 years), economics are still a factor, but other "core elements" of demand come into play. These core elements account for the very basic determinants of car and truck sales—population growth, historical sales, and scrappage rates, to name a few. In plain English, these "core elements of demand" account for the fact that there is a natural limit to the number of cars and light trucks that can be sold in a given period of time. And the Chicago market is inching closer to those maximum limits.

Enough economic mumbo jumbo, what does it all mean? Here's Auto Outlook's forecast for the Chicago market for the next three years:

We predict a very small decline in the area market over the next two years. following a projected 0.5% increase in 1999, the market is expected to fall by just 0.6% next year and 1.3% in 2001. We believe that the market can maintain its current pace for well into the next century. Although the market has obviously been strong in recent years, we do not believe that it has reached its cyclical peak, which is clearly good news for area dealers.

Fight flats – New SUV/Pickup tire keeps on rolling

Once the workhorse of dusty-booted construction workers, sport utility vehicles (SUVs) and pickups have been undergoing a rapid transformation the last few years as a virtual staple for suburban families on the go. Vehicles that long have hauled timber and tools now are more likely hustling a cargo load of youth soccer players across town. With gas prices stable and Americans' thirst growing for a roomier ride, the light-truck market has undergone phenomenal growth.

Today, light-truck sales account for more than 40 percent of all new-car sales, fueled by tremendous growth in the SUV category, and could outpace sales of the average automobile in the next couple of years. Manufacturers are flooding the market with new models and cramming them with features to make them less like a truck and more like a luxury sedan.

The mere size and bulk of SUVs and many pickups offer consumers higher seating position and a commanding view, providing a greater feeling of security. When you include features like air bags, keyless entry, reverse-warning systems and satellite navigation, it's easy to see the appeal that these vehicles have among consumers.

However, for all these features designed to heighten drivers' security, SUVs and pickups have a glaring Achilles heel — their tires. They can get a flat tire just as easily as any other car when they confront the common nail.

A national survey recently showed that flat tires are the second greatest worry to drivers after accidents. Flat-resistant and run-flat type tires, which can withstand a puncture and keep a vehicle on the road, have become readily available in recent years, but primarily for passenger cars. Because of the vehicles' weight and height of most light-truck tires, no tire manufacturer has been able to produce a line of flat-resistant tires specifically designed for SUVs and pickups — until now.

Manufacturer Uniroyal® Tire has introduced a line of flat-resistant tires for SUVs and pickups called Laredo® NailGardTM. The tire contains a patented rubber sealant that lines the interior of the tire's tread. It is designed to instantly and permanently seal more than 90 percent of tread punctures 3/16 inch or less.

This means that, in most cases, the tire does not go flat and motorists avoid the danger and inconvenience that result from having to pull over and change a flat tire on a busy highway or deserted road.

"This is a significant breakthrough for SUV and pickup drivers. Laredo NailGard is the first and only line of tires specifically designed for light trucks to help prevent flats," says Joe Herget, brand manager for Uniroyal Tire. "SUV and pickup owners also want the benefits of new tire technology and now they can have it."

The company is backing the tire with an unprecedented claim; while no tire is impervious to flats, if the Laredo NailGard does not seal a tread puncture during the life of the tire, Uniroyal Tire will replace it for free.*

The tire provides SUV and pickup drivers far greater security and confidence so that they can get to the soccer field — or local hardware store — without having to worry about a flat.

*See warranty for details.

The newest security feature for SUVs and pickups: Thanks to a rubber compound inside that seals tread punctures instantly and permanently, the new Uniroyal® Laredo® NailGardTM tire can run over the common nail and keep right on going. For more information, call 1-877-UNIROYAL or visit the Web site at www.nailgard.com.

Does your auto sound system leave you feeling half empty?

You now own the car of your dreams — as you jump behind the wheel, turn on the stereo and settle in for the ride, you suddenly notice that your favorite song sounds empty; it lacks punch and emotion. Chances are, you are missing the foundation for true listening enjoyment — a subwoofer.

You don't have to be a Generation Xer, wear baggy pants or have pierced body parts to want a more satisfying musical experience. Most recordings have a wealth of bass reproduction that goes completely unheard in a factory-supplied system.

In most applications, adding one subwoofer will enhance the performance of your system and provide an extraordinary amount of bass. There are a number of companies, like JL Audio, that offer a variety of subwoofers acoustically designed for today's most popular cars, trucks and SUVs. The company also offers a unique collection of StealthboxTM enclosures, designed to fit into nooks and crannies of more than 40 different makes and models of vehicles without sacrificing the space and comfort of the driver or passengers.

For more information, call JL Audio at (954) 443-1100.
